ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This study has been evolved and completed under the enlightened guidance of Dr. R.R. Ashar, Head, Department of Extension Education, S.V.T. College of Home Science, Bombay-54.

The investigator is greatly indebted to Dr. Mrs. Maina S. Potdar, Principal, L.T. College of Nursing for her co-operation and continuous encouragement given in completing this study.

She acknowledges with thanks, the kind co-operation given by nursing personnel in the present study especially, the matrons of various hospitals of Bombay, who very kindly permitted her to administer the questionnaire to the various nursing personnel in their respective training institutions. She is especially thankful to the respondents of the study without whom the study would not have been a reality.

She wishes to express her special thanks to Mrs. Marie P. Delmas, Principal nursing tutor in Nanavati Hospital for editing the dissertation and Mr. B.G. Ubhare for his service in typing the manuscript.
Finally the investigator express her heartfelt thanks to each and every one who in some way have contributed willingly towards the study.
