

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My deepest gratitude from my heart is due to Prof. B. Venkatachalapati, Head of the Department of Political Science & Public Administration, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati who is my Research Supervisor. I had the benefit of his expert guidance not only in probing the academic topic but in many other matters. But for his kind co-operation and constant support it would not have been possible for me to complete my research work.

I extend my sincere thanks to Prof. Y. Gurappa Naidu, Chairman, Board of Studies, Department of Political Science & Public Administration, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati for the kind and official support rendered by him.

I am very much thankful to Prof. I.N.Chandrashekar Reddy, Dean, Faculty of Arts, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati for his official support.

I also thank Prof. B.V. Muralidhar, Department of Political science and Public Administration for his suggestions.

I express deepest sense of gratitude to Prof. D. Usha Rani, Principal, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati for kind words of encouragement.

I thank the administrative authorities and non- teaching staff of Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati for their official support.

I am grateful to Prof. S. Bhoopathi Rao and Prof. M. Ramakrishnaiah, my teachers at Osmania University, for their continuous encouragement.

I extend my sincere thanks to the authorities and colleagues at Yogi Vemana University, Kadapa for their advices.

I am profoundly thankful to all the respondents who spent their valuable time to answer the questionnaire and interview schedule.

I am indebted to the authorities of Sri Venkateswara University Library; Osmania University Library; Central University Library; National Institute of Rural Development; Andhra Pradesh Academy of Rural Development; District Water Management Agency and District Rural Development Agency, Anantapuram for allowing me to access their offices for the required data for research.

I am always thankful to my husband Sri. V. Krishna Murthy who is always with me in completion of the thesis and in all my endeavours.

I am greatly indebted to my affectionate parents Smt. G. Ramalaxmi and Sri G. Sreeramulu who are my source of strength and support.

I thank my beloved sister K. Vijaya Bharathi and my mother-in-law V. Kanakadurga Bhavani and my father-in-law Sri.V. Venkateswara Rao and other family members for their moral support.

Finally I express my thanks to Sri. V. Rama Prasad for helping me in computer work

(Parvathi. Ganji)