List of Tables

Table 1: Contraceptive use among US women ...........................................11
Table 2: Contraceptive failure rates .........................................................13
Table 3: First year contraceptive failure rate in perfect use vs. typical use for various methods.................................................................14
Table 4: Cervical Mucus scores at various concentrations of ascorbic acid for four different samples.........................................................46
Table 5: Effect of daily eluates of the matrix on cervical mucus score......47
Table 6: Change in the weight of the matrices C and D.........................54
Table 7: Change of pH of aqueous medium in the presences of acid-rich biodegradeable biomaterials.........................................................62
Table 8: Hydrogel composition.................................................................84