ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my research supervisor Dr. B.P. Mahesh Chandra Guru, Professor, Department of Studies in Communication and Journalism, University of Mysore for his benevolent guidance, stimulating encouragement and overall support. He laid a solid foundation for my doctoral research. This study could have never seen the light of the day without the guidance of my teacher, guide and mentor. I am highly indebted to Prof. B.P. Mahesh Chandra Guru for his multi-faceted help and guidance which have gone a long way in making my destiny as a professional in broadcasting media.

I recall with gratitude Prof. V.G. Talawar, former Vice-Chancellor, University of Mysore for his kind patronage. I wish to place on record my sincere thanks to Dr. A.B. Balasubramanian, Professor, Department of Earth Science, University of Mysore for having enabled me to pursue doctoral research at EMRC. I also extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Niranjana Vanalli, Director, EMRC, University of Mysore for his kind encouragement.

I am indebted to Dr. Devaraju, Librarian, University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore for providing useful information on the research topic. My special thanks to Dr. Mohan Madhyastha, Retired Professor of Statistics, University of Mysore for having initiated me into quantitative studies and extended diligent assistance at the stage of statistical analysis. I also thank all the 780 respondents who have provided useful information and co-operation in collecting primary data on the role of television in organic farming in Karnataka state. I thank Mr. Kumara G Kittur for extending efficient support in the typing, designing and printing of the thesis.

Finally, I express my greatest indebtedness to my wife Smt. Roopashree who stood by me at all times and goaded me to pursue my work. My thanks to my beloved parents Sri. Krishnaiah and Smt. Jayamma for their constant love, support and blessings. I also thank my beloved daughter Diya for her love. This research project has been completed successfully mainly because of their constant love, encouragement and support.
