ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my sincere and humble gratitude to Dr. M. D. Jayabalak, Head, Post-Graduate Department of English, Arignar Anna Govt. Arts College, Cheyyar, for the valuable help and guidance in my research on a comparative study of Shelley and Bharatidasan as social revolutionaries. And I express my gratitude also to Dr. Mutharasu who was my Co-Guide in this venture.

My thanks are due to the Librarians of the Madurai-Kamaraj, Madras and Annamalai Universities for their assistance. I gratefully remember the Librarian of our own College.

The British Council Library, Madras – 2, deserves my sincere thanks.

More than formal thanks are due to my wife and children who share my burden and anxiety in making of the thesis.

I acknowledge my thanks to Dr. R. Alalasundaram who despite his preoccupations with more personal work, helped me with the DTP work and enabled me to submit the thesis on time.

Above all, I thank with devotion God Almighty for having given good guidance and kindly light to walk through slowly but steadily to prepare the thesis and submit it.
