ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Dr. R.G. Singh, M.Sc., M.A., M.Phil., Ph.D. and Head, Department of Sociology, Govt. M.L.B. Post Graduate College, Gwalior (M.P.) for his affectionate and inspiring encouragement without which this research work would not have been possible. It was, in fact, a real pleasure to work under him on this topic; I invariably received from him readily accessible guidance invaluable suggestions. I am also indebted to him for making me available his excellent collection of literature bearing to the subject.

I am also thankful to The Home Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh for granting me permission to complete fieldwork in various Prisons of Uttar Pradesh. My thanks are also due to I.G. Police, Uttar Pradesh and I.G. Prisons of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh for the facilities offered me to work on the problem.

I owe a special debt of gratitude to I.G. Anti Dacoity Cell Uttar Pradesh, Agra with their staff, who, in fact, made it possible for me to get some valuable informations about dacoits and dacoity.

I also wish to express my thanks to the Superintendents of Central and District Jails of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh for extending their cooperation during the interview with inmate dacoits.

I express my bounden gratitude to Indian Council of Social Science Research, New Delhi for awarding me 'SHORT TERM
DOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP which made possible for me to complete the work. In the same spirit I am also debt to Sri S.R. Gupta, Principal, Sri Laxmi Vyayam Mandir College, Jhansi (U.P.) for granting me leave to join teacher fellowship.

During the course of work and the preparation of present thesis, the scholar received help, assistance and encouragement from various other persons. I am particularly grateful to Dr. N.K. Gouraha, Reader and Head, Department of Sociology and Social Work, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar (M.P.) for his useful suggestions.

Lastly, I thank to my brother Mr. Prakash C. Jain, Common Wealth Research Fellow, Carleton University, Ottawa, Canada for his honest and biasfree advice.
