ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Thanks are too formal a word to express my profound gratitude to my distinguished guide, Professor M.S. Ahluwalia, Department of History, Himachal Pradesh University Shimla, for his benevolent guidance, patience and helping attitude throughout the period of my study and preparation of the Thesis. It is his affection, accommodating and sympathetic nature, everlasting smile and soft inspiration which enabled me to carry out the present investigation. I feel particularly fortunate in having worked under his able guidance. Words are inadequate to express the totality of my gratitude for his help.

I am very grateful to esteemed and learned Chairman, Prof. S. K. Gupta, and other members of the Department, Prof. A. R. Khan, Dr. Laxman Singh Thakur, Dr. Chetan Singh for their constant support, encouragement, and valuable advice.

I remain indebted to my teachers and friends who have been of immense help and inspirations. In particular, I put on record my gratitude to Dr. N. R. Gopal, Mrs. Nila Gopal, Mr. Praveen Kumar and Mrs. Lalita Chandan Lecturers in English for going through the thesis with a penetrating eye of a language teachers. There is a circle of colleagues who should find mention for their help in the present study include Dr. Satish Kanwar,
Mr. Mahesh Chandan, Dr. Trilok Chand, Dr. K. S. Attri, Dr. Gokul Chand, Rakesh Sharma, Mahant and Ranjodh Singh.

I acknowledge my debt to Mr. Rattan Lal, Surveyor for preparation of Ground plan of Kangra fort. Thanks are due to I.T.I. Shahpur and Sh. C. D. Attri Assistant Conservation officer, Kangra fort for providing all facilities for the measurement of Kangra fort.

I am grateful to the Librarian and Staff members to the Libraries, H.P.University Shimla, Punjab University, Chandigarh, Punjab State Archives Patiala and Archaeological Survey of India, Chandigarh circle.

My special thanks are due to Dr. Pradeep, department of Planning, H.P.University, Shimla for helping me during my studies.

I acknowledge my debt to all those writers and scholars from whose works I have largely drawn and quoted them in this thesis.

Above all, I wish to dedicate this work in sweet affection of dear Namita and Rubbi who have been a source of continuous inspiration to me and who spared no effort in making my studies a success.

Finally I owe the greatest debt of gratitude to my family members for their constant support and encouragement.

I also thank Mr. G. S. Kutlehria for converting this manuscript in the form of a compact and neatly-typed copy.
Again I thank all of them whose names has been mentioned with affection.
