ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is with immense pleasure and gratitude to record in the present study my heartfelt thanks to respected Dr. Lokesh Koul, Professor and Chairman- Department of Education, Dean of Studies- Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla, under whose benevolent guidance and scholarly supervision the present study was undertaken, executed and accomplished. Dr. Koul is rated as one of India's significant research community in education and Social Sciences (Footnote 34). His book "Methodology of Educational Research (1984)" as well as his personal critical and searching guidance coupled with sympathetic attitude and unique encouragement throughout and at every stage of my research work were both of significant assistance and inspiration to me.

I owe my special thanks to the teaching staff in the Department of Education, Himachal Pradesh University for their friendly encouragement as well as inspiration. The exchange of ideas during departmental seminars was of some benefit to me in regard to my research work.

I also wish to express my gratitude to Dr. Kulwinder Singh, Himachal Pradesh University, for his personal interest in my research work and his noteworthy assistance. The workshops and seminars pertaining to adult education he made possible for me to attend were of optimum benefit to my work.

I am also obliged to Dr. L. Misra - Joint Secretary, Dr. V.V. Bhat - Deputy Secretary, and Vishwa Mohan - Education
Officer, all of the Ministry of Human Resource Development, New Delhi, for the assistance rendered in relation to the survey undertaken at the Ministry's headquarters. I express my sense of gratitude to Dr. V. Venkata Seshaiah—Additional Director and Dr. F. S. Bawa, Assistant Director both of the Directorate of Adult Education, New Delhi for the assistance rendered regarding data on the operations of the Directorate. I am also equally indebted to the under-mentioned for the data furnished to me pertaining to my research work: Dr. S. C. Bhatia—Professor and Head, Centre for Adult, Continuing Education and Extension (CACEE) Delhi University, Hon. Secretary—Indian University Association for Continuing Education and Extension; Dr. Anita Dighe—Director, Dr. S. Y. Shah—Assistant, Director both of (CACEE) Jawahar Lal Nehru University; Dr. Mrs. V. V. Saiyed—Director (CACEE) Jamia Millia Islamic University, New Delhi; Ms. Sudesh Negi, Assistant Director, Dr. Y. K. Sharma—Project Officer and Mrs. Prem Lata (Gandhi), Project Officer, (CACEE), Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla; Dr. N. N. Pangotra—Director, Dr. C. L. Narang Assistant Director, Mrs. Renu Gandhi, Project Officer and Dr. K. Puri—Assistant Director—Resource Centre all of (CACEE) Panjab University.

I am highly obliged to Dr. R. C. Gupta—Secretary, Central Board of Secondary Education, New Delhi for data on his Board’s operations.

My thanks are also extended to Dr. O. P. Sharma, Youth Co-ordinator, Nehru Yuvak Kendras (Community Centre) Shimla.
for availing his Centre to me for an interface with both the functionaries at the Centre and learners and for a copy of his Centre’s report and the oral briefing.

I am grateful to Dr. K.G. Sharma—Project Officer, O.P. Keprati—Supervisor, Mrs. Asha Sood—Supervisor, all of the District Education Office, Shimla, for facilitating my participation in the seven day training camp for adult educators in Rampur and the execution of case studies at Sarahan and Kinno.

My thanks are also due to all the supervisors and instructors of the adult education centres visited in Himachal Pradesh and Chandigarh States.

I would also like to thank Shri Subhash Deva, Librarian, Indian Adult Education Association, New Delhi, for the valuable documents pertaining to the Association he made available to me when I visited the Association headquarters.

Mention must also be made of Baranasi University of Uttar Pradesh which besides Himachal Pradesh University, offered a seat to me for the undertaking of the same research work. Although the seat at Himachal Pradesh University was finally taken up, gratitude should be recorded also in respect of Baranasi University in reciprocation to the favourable decision of the authorities there.

I deem it of significant as well as pertinent noteworthy to thank the Indian Government for the award of scholarship under the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan and facilitation of research study in India which is rated as 'The Research Super-power of the Third World' in view of its significant research community in education and social sciences (Footnote 32).

I am also indebted to the Zambian Government for its considerate and humanitarian decision in both nominating me for the scholarship as well as the release from my official duties thereby enabling me to undertake the research study in India. My government's action is seen by me as one of the practical ways of illuminating President Kaunda's philosophy regarding the education of an individual as the 'ideal way in which he can prove his worthy (see Footnote 187).

I will be failing in my duty if I do not express my sincere gratitude to the sources of data utilised in the present study in regard to Zambia. These sources include the Ministry of Labour and Social Services, Ministry of General Education and Culture, Ministry of Higher Education Science and Technology, University of Zambia, President's Citizenship College, Department of Continuing Education, Zambia Continuing Education Advisory Board and Adult Education Association of Zambia.

Thanks are also due to the Office staff of the Department of Education for their kind co-operation and assistance rendered during my period of research study.
I cannot forget to extend my personal thanks to Mr. Harbhajan Singh for typing the manuscript of the thesis. The length of the thesis and quality of typing manifest the spirit of not only hardwork but also the much needed 'excellence'.

Lastly, I feel reciprocally bound not to forget to thank Eva, my wife for her constant wishes of God's blessings of wisdom on me during my studies, Jack, my brother, for his inspiring letters and Priscilla, my daughter in U.S.S.R. for her sustained wishes of successful accomplishment of my research work.

In observation of adult education as a champion of freedom, the investigator decided to submit the thesis on 24th October, Zambia's Independence Day.
