Acknowledgements

By the grace of God, I was able to initiate the task and it is His benevolence which guided and ensured the successful completion of this project.

It is a great opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude for those who have helped and assisted me at different stages during the course of my research work.

The completion of my thesis manifestly has been due to the able guidance of my revered guide Dr. V.P. Sharma, Professor, Department of English, H.P. University, Summer Hill, Shimla, whose cooperation and the painstaking efforts have made the success of this project a dream come true. This project is the outcome of his benevolent guidance, sustained encouragement, motivation and valuable suggestions.

I have no words to convey my heartfelt gratitude and thanks to my husband, Mr. Kundan Sharma, who inspired me to take up higher studies. He has always been a driving force behind all my achievements and with his constant emotional support, understanding and valuable assistance throughout the period of my research, I was able to complete this treatise.

I must put on record my sense of admiration for my sons Sushant and Shashank for their tender care, affection and support for such a long period.

A special word of thanks is due to Dr. Som. P. Ranchan for clarifying some of the abstruse concepts of psychoanalysis and lending me the relevant books on Psychology.
I express my sense of gratitude to Mr. J.L. Sharma for the kind cooperation extended by him during the course of the present study.

I am also grateful to the Aggarwals, proprietor of Minerva Book House, Shimla for their invaluable assistance in promptly making available some of the relevant material for the completion of my project. Besides my special thanks to the officials of H.P. University Library for providing me of books in my pursuit of achieving the goal.

I must also record my thanks to Mr. Hrushan Kutlehsa for typing the them.
