BIBLIOGRAPHY

Block, M.E. (1993). Attitudes of physical educators towards teaching students with severe and profound disabilities. Research quarter for exercise and sport, supplement to 64 (1), A-114.

Folsom-Meek, (1996), Effect of Selected Attributes of Preservice Physical Education Teachers Enrolled in Introductory Adapted Physical Education course on Attitude Toward Learners with Disabilities. Research Quarter for Exercise and Sport, Supplement to 67(1), A-119.

Luttrell, W.L. (1992). The levels of happiness, satisfaction, and perceived importance of athletic completion of winners and losers in special Olympics. Research quarter for exercise and sport, supplement to 63 (1), A-91.

Miller & Graham (1980). Handwriting research and practice. A united approach focus on exceptional children.

The National Trust for Welfare of Person with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999).

225
Zhang, J. (1997). The fluency effect of a constant time delay procedure on teaching motor skills to individuals with severe intellectual disabilities. Research quarter for exercise and sport, supplement to 68 (1), A-126.

