Acknowledgements

As is natural, the study of this kind is not possible without the co-operation and support of several people. In the course of this study the researcher had the benefit of advise, assistance and cooperation of a large number of persons. While it is not possible to express a grateful thanks to each one of them, the researcher however intends to express his sincere debt to these follow:

First and the foremost expression of researcher’s gratitude goes to Prof. R.K. Saxena, Prof. & Director Institute management, Bundelkhand University, Jhansi, who had encouraged the researcher to pursue Ph.D and helped in selecting the subject - named Impact Of Human Relations On Industrial Productivity. The researcher is beholden to Prof. R.K. Saxena for having kindly agreed to supervise and guide the research. He has taken immense pain and was always available to come to the rescue of the researcher, whenever the problems baffled him “researcher”. In fact the researcher does not have adequate words to express his deep sense of gratitude to Prof. R. K. Saxena; Director Management Studies whose benevolence is beyond expression.

The researcher is equally grateful to other colleagues of the Institute of Management studies Bundelkhand University, Jhansi Specially Dr. Pankaj Atri, coordinator MIBM, Dr. Poonam Puri, Coordinator MBA And Dr. A.K. Saxena coordinator MBA (Part time), for their valuable cooperation and suggestions at different stages in the completion of the study. But for without their cooperation, this study may not have taken this shape.

The researcher owes debt to several officers of the BHEL, who unhasistently extended all cooperation in collecting the data and in making available lot many valuable official documents which are often denied to ordinary investigator. In the same vein the researcher would like to thank all his respondents, who at the cost of their time and convenience responded to the researcher’s questions and voluntarily gave information that the researcher sought for. Here, I too wish to express my sincere thanks to Mr. Dhruv Bhargav (Manager HRD, BHEL, Jhansi) who put his best efforts from his inner most corner of his inner most heart to make lot of efforts to get my name registered to prepare the thesis and he has also given me all sort of required guide lines regarding HRD to reach the amicable results/solution of the problems. I also wish to express my gratitude to Mrs. Seema Srivastav, Dy. Manager HRD for her judicious guidance without which I was unable to reach the goal. A special vote of thanks to Mr. S.P. Tamerkar (Gen. Forman
