It would not have been possible to write my thesis without the help and support of the kind people around me, to only some of whom it is possible to give particular mention here.

I would like to record my gratitude sincerely and heartily to my research Director Prof. A. Subrahmanyam, Dean, P.G. Department of Legal studies and Research, Acharya Nagarjuna University, for his supervision, advice, and patient guidance from the very early stage of this research. In spite of pre-occupations provided his valuable time during this work with his constructive comments and constant advices. Above all and the most needed, he provided me unflinching encouragement and support in various ways.

I am grateful to Prof Y.P. Rama Subbaiah, Rector, Acharya Nagarjuna University, for his valuable suggestions throughout this work.

I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to Prof L. Jayasree, Head of Dept., P.G. Dept of Legal Studies & Research, Acharya Nagarjuna University for her kind co operation, without which I would not have been able to complete this thesis.

I would be faltering in my duty, if I fail to express my gratitude to my husband Sri G. Hemanja who has been a perennial source of inspiration to me for his vital encouragement, inspiration and unstinted support that he has always extended to me in pursuing my career and this research work.

I owe my loving thanks to my elder son Master G. Saardhak who has been the most valuable gift in my life and who always keeps asking the question 'why' and for his support in every conceivable manner. The unseen force behind me in completing this research work has been my younger son Chi. Vishaal Vardhan and this thesis is dedicated to him.

It gives me immense pleasure to acknowledge my parents especially my mother Smt B. Bhadravathamma, who boosted me morally and who enormously helped me with my household during this research work and who gave endless support throughout my life and education. I also would like to thank my brother K. Vijaya Kumar for his continuous help in completing this research work.

I would like to extend my gratitude to my father-in-law Sri G. Chakrapani and my mother-in-law Smt G. padmavathi for their continuous encouragement.

I also extend my heartfelt thanks to my institution P.S.R Law College for their encouragement. Very special thanks to all of my relatives, friends and well wishers for their encouragement and continuous support.

And above all, to the God, who made all things possible.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of this thesis as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one.
