Table of Contents

Chapters

- Introduction
  - Review of Literature
    - Nature and Culture
    - Culture Ecology
    - Identity as a Changing Processes
    - Cultural Identity and Colonial Discourse
    - Narrative, Territory and Identity
  - Statement of the Problem
  - The Locale: Encounter and Experiences
  - Methods and Techniques of Research
  - Outline of the Study

- Chapter 1—Mapping of the Region, People and Culture
  1.1 Introduction
  1.2 Manipur: Geographical Location and Population Distribution
  1.3 The People: Historical Location of the Kukis
    - 1.3.1 Origin
    - 1.3.2 Migratory Routes
    - 1.3.3 Identities: Thadou or Kuki
  1.4 Social Institutions in the Thadou Kuki Society
    - 1.4.1 Chieftainship Systems
    - 1.4.2 Customary Court
    - 1.4.3 Customary Land Laws
      - 1.4.3.1 The British Legacy
      - 1.4.3.2 The Patta System
      - 1.4.3.3 Case Studies
  1.5 Principles Governing the Social Structure
    - 1.5.1 The Tucha- Songgao Relationship
    - 1.5.2 Customary Usages and Practices
  1.6 Beliefs Systems and Modes of Worship

Pages

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapters</th>
<th>Pages</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>1-47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chapter 1—Mapping of the Region, People and Culture</td>
<td>48-91</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Chapter 2—Social Ecology

2.1 Introduction

2.2 Primal Religions of the Thadou Kukis

2.3 Land and Culture Relationships

2.3.1 Ecological Sensibilities of Local Communities

a. Naming of the Month

2.4 Human-Nature Relationships

2.4.1 The Priesthood or ‘Thempu’ System

2.4.2 The Chieftainship or ‘Haosa’ System

2.5 Land and Rituals

2.5.1 Ritual for Purifying Land

a. The Lou-mun-vet and Daiphu Ritual
b. Twikhuh Thoina Ritual

2.5.2 Ritual to invoke blessing and good fortune

a. The Chang-nunghah ritual or Ritual of the Maiden deity
b. Ritual for appeasing the Chang-nunghah

2.5.3 Ritual of thanksgiving for a bountiful harvest

a. Chang-Ai and Sa-Ai
b. The Kut or Post Harvesting Festival

2.6 Conclusions

Chapter 3—Colonialism and Land

3.1 Introduction

3.2 Colonialism

3.3 Administrations of Hill areas during Colonial Period

3.4 British policies towards the Kukis
3.4.1 Policy of non-interference or political laissez faire or Kukis as buffers
3.4.2 Forward policy or Kuki punitive measures during the Anglo-Kuki war of 1917-1919
3.4.3 Cultural discontinuities: Waves of changes

3.5 Spatializing the Missionary Encounter: The interaction between Missionary work and space in colonial settings

3.6 Colonialism and Christian Mission

3.7 Quotidian Contestations: The Missionary and Local Agencies
   3.7.1 Re-ordering of spatial arrangement of land
   3.7.2 Gender relationship within the colonial setting: Impact of the missionary compound
   3.7.3 Chieftainship and Colonial Missionary

3.8 Colonialism and Identity Transformation
   3.8.1 Reflections on Colonial Writings
   3.8.2 Standardisation of Language
   3.8.3 Opposing Categories and the Construction of the 'other'

3.9 Conclusions: End-results of the Cross-cultural encounter

• Chapter 4-Land Rights Discourses in the Hills of Manipur 177-228

4.1 Introduction

4.2 The Land Question
   4.2.1 Chieftainship System: Land, Role Relationship and its obligations and privileges
   4.2.2 Law and Justice

4.3 The Post Colonial Experience: Administration of hill areas after Independence
   4.3.1 The Manipur Hill Peoples Administration Regulation Act, 1947
   4.3.2 The Manipur Village Authorities in Hill Areas Act, 1956
   4.3.3 The Manipur Land Revenue and Land Reforms Act, 1960
4.3.4 The Manipur Hill Areas Acquisition of Chief's rights Act, 1967

4.3.5 The Manipur (Hill Areas) District Council Act, 1971

4.4 Asserting Land Rights

4.4.1 Restoration of Chieftainship System

4.4.2 Combative negotiations with the State: Local Land Based Movements

4.4.2.1 The Sadar Hills District Demand Committee

4.4.2.2 Agitation against Uniform Land Policy

4.4.2.3 Demand for Sixth Schedule

4.5 Continuity for Traditional institutions

4.5.1 Contemporary Relevance of the Customary Court

4.6 Conclusion

• Chapter 5—Woman and Land

5.1 Introduction

5.2 The Social Construction of Gender Relations

5.3 Woman and Land Issues in India

5.3.1 Woman Land Rights as defined by the Constitution

5.4 Traditional Customary Law and Woman

5.4.1 Land Rights and Women

5.4.2 Inheritance Laws

5.4.3 Brideprice or Bride Wealth

5.4.4 The significance of land as property

5.5 Women Organisation

5.5.1 Methodology and Objectives

5.5.2 Structure of the Women Organisations

5.5.3 Participation in the Customary Court

5.6 Women Access to Land

5.7 The Church

5.7.1 The Woman Character in the Bible

5.7.2 The Missionary Women as role model

229-271
5.8 Conclusions

- Chapter 6—Land and Livelihood

6.1 Introduction

6.2 Land Tenure Systems

6.2.1 Rights in the Soil under the Caste System

6.2.2 Communal System of Management and Control of Land in Manipur

  a. The Mode of Production or Agriculture
  b. Agrarian Structure and their transformation
    i. Tujang Vaichong
    ii. Motbung Village
    iii. Kangpokpi Urban Town

6.3 Social Organisation of Labour

6.3.1 Social Organisation of Farming

6.3.2 Traditional Lom System

6.3.3 Agrarian Society in Transition

  a. A shift towards contractual labour
  b. Migrants spaces for labour

6.4 The Civilising Process: Forest use and shifting cultivation

6.4.1 Jhumming or Shifting cultivation as a heritage

6.4.2 Debates on shifting cultivation

6.4.3 Regulations on forest use and practice of shifting cultivation

6.4.4 Impact of the forest policies

6.5 Conclusions
• Conclusions 328-336
• Bibliography 337-361
• Leaders in the Field
• Paintings
  o Customary Law Court (The Chief and his Ministers)
  o Indoi (Totem or symbol indicating the presence of god in traditional Kuki household)
• Maps
  o Map of Manipur showing the Senapati district in which the three field areas are located o Map of Senapati district showing 'Sadar Hills West' in which is located Tujang Vaichong Village and Kangpokpi Urban Town
  o Map of Senapati district showing 'Saitu Gamphazol' in which is located Motbung Village
• Photographs from the field
• Research Questions (Sample)