Acknowledgements

In writing this thesis I have taken help and encouragement from many and it is my duty to thank them. I had received incessant support from all concerned. I sincerely acknowledge their benevolent attitude to a humble researcher like me but for whose support the work could not have come into being.

I have a great heartfelt deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Professor A.C. Pal, Department of Laws, Himachal Pradesh University Shimla, my teacher and research supervisor for his most precious guidance and advice at a very difficult and delicate time in my life as research scholar. As my Supervisor, the trouble he took, the goodness of heart he showed and the understanding he displayed during my research and thereafter till date, are difficult to forget.

I shall remain ever indebted to Professor Kailash Thakur, Chairman and Dean, Faculty of Law for being a constant source of advice, support and inspiration. Moreover, my interest in the subject would have undoubtedly rested as an episode, a fleeting moment of activity in the midst of ennui, were it not for the fact that Professor Kailash Thakur had helped and encouraged me to write on the subject.

During the research work, the person who helped me a lot is Professor Sunil Deshtia, Department of Laws, Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla. He is also a prolific writer and outstanding teacher. In fact his teaching and academic experience also imparted a pragmatic touch to this research work. He has also been untangling in giving me this precious time, ideas and constructive criticism despite his busy schedule and other onerous responsibilities. He is the 'man' who are responsible for this ultimate realization of a pious desire of a researcher like me. I am, however, entirely responsible for whatever errors and inadequacies are contained in this work.

I also owe my thanks to Professor O.P. Chauhan, Professor H.R. Jhingta, Professor S.N. Sharma, Professor N.K. Gupta, Professor Kamaljeet Singh, Dr. Raghuvinder Singh and Dr. Sanjay Sindhu (all Faculty Members) for their co-operation and valuable guidelines. I am thankful to the staff of various libraries especially the Law Library of Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla, Indian Institute of Advanced Studies, Shimla, Himachal Pradesh Secretariat, Shimla, Himachal Pradesh Vidhan Sabha Library, Shimla, Indian Law Institute, New Delhi, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra and University of Delhi, Delhi etc. for providing me the relevant material on the subject.

I also extend my deep sense of gratitude to the learned authors whose works I have consulted and who have been enlisted in the Bibliography. Among them mention must be made to Subhash Chander Kashyap, G.C. Malhotra, P. Chakarborty, D.D. Basu, Paras Diwan, D.C. Gupta, S.N. Sadasivan, J.R. Siwach, and so on who have made significant contributions in the field. I gratefully acknowledge the help which have derived from their scholarly and learned works.

Over and above all, I owe, more than I could express my immense debt of gratitude to my parents and parents-in-law for giving their love and understanding. I shall ever cherish the inspiration I had received from my father.
Shri R.D.S. Verma, my mother Shrimati Bhuvneshwari Verma and my elder brother Shri Chander Shekhar Singh Verma but for which the present work could not have been thought of. I express my profound thanks to my wife Poonam who was with me always on each step in completing this task. Her sacrifices, devotion, dedication and painstaking efforts have been instrumental in enabling me to undertaking higher studies in Law. I have no words to express my love and deep sense of gratitude to those whose sweet company I missed a lot during this research i.e. my son Aaradhya and daughter Adhishri.

I am also thankful to some of my colleagues and friends those have encouraged and helped me to accomplish the research work within the stipulated time period. I also acknowledge with thanks the cooperation of all others who are instrumental in completion of my assignment.

Last but not the least, I record my appreciation to Mr. Naresh Kumar Sharma for an exceptionally accurate and competent job for typing this manuscript in a very short period.
