ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is with a deep sense of gratitude that I remember my supervising guide Dr. V. Karunakaran, Ex-visiting Professor, Department of Applied Economics for his sincere guidance and valuable suggestions.

I express my deep gratitude to my co-supervisor Dr.K.C. Sankaranarayanan, Head of the Department of Applied Economics for extending me his wholehearted support and encouragement for the successful completion of this thesis.

My thanks are also due to Miss Elizabeth Abraham, Reference Assistant, Department of Applied Economics for her co-operation and encouragement. I also wish to give thanks to the Librarians of
- Centre for Development Studies, Trivandrum.
- Bombay University
- Kerala University
- Calicut University
- Indian Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore.

Besides, I am also indebted to the staff of the selected Handloom Weavers Co-operative Societies for providing sufficient data.
My thanks are also due to officials of Handloom Directorate, Trivandrum, HANTEX and Kerala State Handloom Development Corporation for providing necessary data.

My thanks are also due to my colleagues, especially, C.A. Antony, S. Harikumar and A.M. Ravindran, Research Scholars, Department of Applied Economics for their valuable help.

Lastly my thanks are due to Mr. K. Venkitesh for typing the manuscript neatly and correctly.

MATHEW GEORGE.