

18. Committee on Nutrition: American Academy of Pediatrics: Vitamin K1 compounds and water soluble analogues, use in therapy and prophylaxis in

27. Deshpande SA, Marwaha RK, Garewal G et al: Clinico hematological and sonographic profile of late haemorrhagic disease due to vitamin K deficiency.
Paper presented at the annual conference of Indian Academy of Pediatrics, Jodhpur, 1983.

28. Dunn PM : Vitamin K sub 1 for all newborn babies (Letter).
Lancet 1982; ii : 770.

30. Frick PG, Reidler G, Brogly H : Dose response and minimal daily requirement of vitamin K in man.

31. Garrow D, Chisholm M and Radford M : Vitamin K and thrombo test values in full term infants.

32. Gellis SS, Lyon RA : The influence of the diet
of the newborn infant on the prothrombin infex.
J Pediatrics 1941; 19 : 495.

deficiency in newborn (Letter). Lancet 1977;

34. Goldman HI, Diposito F : Hypoprothrombinemic bleeding

35. Haroon Y, Shearer MJ, Rahim S. et al : The content of phyloquinone (vitamin K sub 1) in human milk, cow's milk
and infant formula foods determined by high perfor-

dependent modifications of glutamic acid residues in

87. Sutherland JM, Glueck MI, Glascr G: Hemorrhagic disease of the newborn. Breast feeding as a necessary factor in the pathogenesis.

88. Sutor AH, Pancoschar H, Neidershoff H et al: Vitamin K deficiency haemorrhage in four entirely breast fed infants, aged 4-6 weeks (German) Dtsch Med Wochenschr

89. Tay JSH, Tip WCL: Vitamin K dependent clotting factors in normal breast fed infants (Letter).

90. Townsend DW: The hemorrhagic disease of the

91. Tripp JH, McNinch AW: Haemorrhagic disease and

92. Van Doorn JM, Muller AD, Hemkar HC: Vitamin K

93. Van Doorn JM, Muller AD, Hemkar HC: Heparin like inhibitor, not vitamin K deficiency in the newborn.

