Acknowledgements

It would not have been possible to complete this doctoral thesis without the help and support of many kind people around me. I would like to thank all such people whose encouragement has given me the impetus to embark on this journey.

First and foremost, I offer my most sincere gratitude to Prof. S. M. Hadi, my Ph.D. supervisor and a researcher par excellence, for guiding me with great scientific acumen and a deep knowledge of the subject that he possesses. While allowing me the necessary freedom to work my way through, he analyzed my work deftly making the whole experience a tour de force. Under his tutelage, I not only picked some nuances of research but also gained a great deal from his insights on several subjects beyond research, particularly his philosophy of life. It won’t be wrong to admit that his influence has shaped my world view to a large extent. One simply cannot wish for a better or friendlier supervisor.

I am also thankful to all my respected teachers for their goodwill, support and for being the fountainhead of knowledge. A special mention to Dr. F. H. Khan for being a friend, a counselor and a philosopher, all at the same time. He has been invaluable both on an academic and personal level. Massab, as I fondly call him, has a unique knack of delving deep into the heart of the matter and offering perfect solution to the conundrum of the hour.

The Council for Scientific & Industrial Research (CSIR), New Delhi is gratefully acknowledged for providing financial assistance in the form of Junior/Senior Research Fellowship.

I am deeply indebted to Prof. F. H. Sarkar and Dr. A. Ahmad, Karmanos Cancer Institute, Wayne State University, Detroit, USA, for technical assistance provided in studies on cancer cell lines.

My lab members were truly invaluable and I learned so much from all of them. Each brought unique talents into the mix, and together they made a fabulous and powerful combination. Fahad bhai played the role of a sage advisor. With his wisdom and good sense he oversaw the complex logistics, ensuring that its many strands never became unraveled. I still cherish the stimulating discussions we have had. My sincere thanks to Aamir bhai who donated his invaluable time to my cause and provided highly valuable suggestions that pointed me in the right direction. A comrade of several years, Haseeb showed truly tireless dedication and devotion to the breadth and depth of our research work.

I was amazingly fortunate in the quantity and quality of friends who so generously lent me their time and support. Thanks to Aatif bhai, for the companionship and for adding the necessary humour and entertainment to the otherwise stressful life. Aaliya apa filled the vacuum of a sister I never had. She has been a source of constant motivation and I treasure all the precious moments we shared. A bouquet of thanks to my sophisticated friend Shaziapa who kept the wheels rolling when the stall seemed imminent. She has inadvertently, and without fail, provided something much greater in all the years I’ve known her - a friendly smile and a hello every time we met.

To my warm friends, Ashreeb, Sha, Adil, Irshad, Muzaffar, Shabistan and Sana, I have no doubt that the best of all is having you in my life. I thank you all more than words can say. I fell short of words to express my feelings for my friends who stood by me through thick and thin over all these years; I can’t clear the debts I owe to them particularly Quddos and Ahad.

I also wish to thank my seniors Jeelani bhai, Shams Bhai, Babu Bhai, Medha apa, Rukhama apa, Zoheb Bhai, Rayes Bhai and Faraz Bhai for their affability and infinite support over the course of this endeavour. In my daily work I have been blessed with a friendly and cheerful group of fellow colleagues. A token of thanks to Taqi Bhai, Iftickhar Bhai, Sandesh Bhai, Anit Bhai, Nayeem Bhai, Nida apa, Humaira apa, Shakeel Bhai, Zaheer and Mariya. It is also a pleasure to convey my thanks to Saman, Shafaq, Shirin, Kaiser, and Rouf, fellow travellers on the road of research. Thanks for sharing the journey with support and counsel. I thank all my young colleagues, particularly Sayeed, Tariq, Shaz, Anir, Anir Jr, Azad, Sheikhu, Ahmad, Furqan, Farhan and Arif for the general bloom they provide to the lab and for their courtesies.

Special thanks to Goldy for adding countless creative touches and formatting the thesis that made the material come alive in its present form. The technical and office staff of the department are also thanked for their timely help.

And above all, to my parents - for being there before and during the writing of this thesis. Abba checked on my progress throughout and his prayers for me kept me going. Amma deserve a medal for her unfailing patience during the nerve racking period of my research. She did everything possible to smooth the rough terrain and offer encouragements. I could not have done it without her. Thanks for showing the faith in me. I can never express enough gratitude for all that you have done.

(Husain Yar Khan)