Acknowledgements

In the name of Allah, most gracious and most merciful. All my praise are for Allah as He is the Creator, Sustainer and He is the One who has power over all. I want to thank Him for all the things He has done for me. He has guided me from all the ways that were wrong and gave me hope to proceed forward.

Step by step clearing all the levels of education and finally entering into the most critical and most unpredictable stage known as Ph.D, was one of my most crucial decision. Pursuing Ph.D is a long journey where I came across number of people who not only make me acquainted with the scientific world but also helped me overcoming various problems related to my thesis work either by assisting me with my experiments when I was overburdened or by consoling when I was depressed. Now when I find myself standing at the verge of completion of my thesis work I want to thank all those who made my voyage a rememberable one.

Most of all I would like to thank my thesis supervisor Dr. Moinuddin for his expert guidance and continuous encouragement. During these years his great enthusiasm, deep insights into the research have brought a great influence to me. He has taught me to become an independent researcher, to think critically, to design scientific experiments and to develop hypothesis. Painstakingly, he guided me and scrutinised my work in an unmarred manner. Further, I would specially like to thank him for patiently instructing me in writing of scientific papers. His motivating counselling will always help me to move in forward direction of science. His guidance helped me in all the time of research and writing of this thesis. I really owe him a lot for teaching me and forcing me to learn by my own. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D study. Throughout my thesis writing period, he provided encouragement, sound advice, good teaching, good company, and lots of good ideas. I would have been lost without him.

I am highly thankful to Prof. Asif Ali, ex-Chairman and Prof. Najmul Islam, Chairman Department of Biochemistry, J.N.M.C. Both of them equipped me with all the necessary indispensable and requisite facility. Their all cooperation for laboratory development for its smooth running is highly appreciable. Their sound knowledge in the field of biochemistry benefited me a lot.

I express my gratitude towards Prof. Khursheed Alam, and other faculty members for their concern and knowledgeable suggestions. Their continuous counselling, guidance, motivation and comments played an important role in bringing such a difficult task to an end.

I also wish to express my gratitude to my senior most lab mate Dr. Kiran Dixit whose help, stimulating suggestions and encouragement helped me throughout the time of my research. She was like an elder sister for me. Every experiment she taught was fun for me. She made me acquainted with every bits and bytes of experiment handling. Apart from all these, the love which she has given and the care which she has taken, is priceless, for which I will always be indebted. I will always admire her, and remember how I have enjoyed working with her and how much I have learned from her.

I am especially grateful all my lab colleagues J.M. Ashraf, my very sweet senior, a real down to earth person, who was always ready to help me selflessly. Binish Arif, who not only shared the same lab but also shared the room with me for three years. She was there for me in my all ups and downs. I share a bunch of sweet memories with her, she'll always be loved by me. Farzana Wasi, Saman Ahmad, Dr. Sana Alam were my very good friends. I am also thankful to Badar Bhai and my juniors Abdul Rouf, Mir Yasir and Parvez Ahmad for their help and cooperation. They all provided a stimulating and fun environment to learn and grow. All of them helped a lot and assisted me whenever I asked them.

I am extremely thankful to my most loving senior, who is like an elder brother to me Dr. Shams Tabrez for his indispensable advice, thoughtful suggestions. Most importantly, his constant moral support and encouragement during the difficult moments of the study helped me a lot.

I would love to extend my great appreciation and admiration for my senior, ex-colleague, and my wonderful husband Dr. Saheem Ahmad for his spiritual and devout help and support during my long sleepless nights and throughout the difficult times. His everlasting smile and his faith in my capabilities have raised my morale up to the top. I think without his presence around me all the time this long journey would have been extremely difficult and tedious.

I would like to thank my mother, who has been my rock, my strength, and my steadfast example of faith and selfless love. Right from the childhood she kept on insisting me to do hard work. She helped me to make full use of time in the direction of study. She is the one who first made me to believe that I could do and be anything my heart desired. My Father on the other hand always encouraged my ideas and supported me to move ahead in the education field. He provided me everything which I required, sometimes, after demanding and sometimes, as a surprise. I can call my self luckiest daughter to have such a wonderful parents. I can’t move ahead without talking about my younger brother who always refreshed me by saying “I am with you”. In simple words I can say that the three members made me the part of best family in the world. On the other hand all my in-laws proved to be very supportive. Their constant encouragement and moral support made my work easier.

I also had the luck of being in the cohort of some magnificent human beings, my friends. Words fall short to describe my first room-mate Dr. Huma Maqsood, who was there with me as a friend, as a sister and most of all as a soul-mate throughout my hostel life, which at times was impossible for me. My special thanks goes to my few other friends Dr. Farzana, Dr. Sabiha, Dr. Naghma for showering there love and always making me feel important for them.

Just before completing my thesis work I met two strangers, Saba and Wajeena who were my new room-mates. Only after a short period of time I realized that these two people are so close to my heart. Both of them made my thesis writing time a fun time. Although the encounter was very shot but it was really sweet. I will always remember them and love them.

I exuberantly acknowledge the help offered by SAIF at CDRI, Lucknow in conducting various experiments.

My sincere thanks to Mr. Goldy, Rafiq Complex, AMU, Aligarh for helping me to complete this work in a short span of time with much ease.

Lastly the assistance provided by the non teaching and technical staff of the Department of biochemistry is also appreciable.

‘I will not say that I failed 1000 times, I will say that I discovered 1000 ways that can cause failure’! E dison.
