ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis is the end of my journey in obtaining my Ph.D. I have not traveled in a vacuum in this journey. This thesis has been kept on track and been seen through to completion with the support and encouragement of numerous people including my well-wishers, my friends, colleagues and various institutions. At the end of my thesis I would like to thank all those people who made this thesis possible and an unforgettable experience for me. At the end of my thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

This thesis arose in part out of years of research that has been done since I finished my M. Pharm. By that time, I have worked with a great number of people whose contribution in assorted ways to the research and the making of the thesis deserved special mention. It is a pleasure to convey my gratitude to them all in my humble acknowledgment.

In the first place I would like to record my gratitude to Dr. S. Mohan for his supervision, advice, and guidance from the very early stage of this research as well as giving me extraordinary experiences throughout the work. Above all and the most needed, he provided me unflinching encouragement and support in various ways. His truly scientist intuition has made him as a constant oasis of ideas and passions in science, which exceptionally inspire and enrich my growth as a student, a researcher and a scientist want to be. I am indebted to him more than he knows.

I gratefully acknowledge Mr. Dinesh Mahalingam for his advice, supervision, and crucial contribution, which made him a backbone of this research and so to this thesis. His involvement with his originality has triggered and nourished my intellectual maturity that I will benefit from, for a long time to come. Dinesh, I am grateful in every possible way and hope to keep up our collaboration in the future.

I expand my thanks to Dr. Arul Kumaran who shared his research views with me during my initiation of research study and extended his research experience towards me. I feel highly indebted to Dr. Arul for providing valuable insights to the research topic.

Many thanks go in particular to Dr. Hanuman Mallubhotla. I am much indebted to him for his valuable advice in science discussion, supervision in synchrotron and furthermore, using his precious times to read this thesis and gave his critical comments about it.

I have also benefited by advice and guidance from Dr. Karthik Ramani who also always kindly grants me his time even for answering some of my unintelligent questions about formulation development by using Novel excipient.

It is a pleasure to pay tribute also to the sample collaborators. I feel great pleasure to acknowledge Intas Biopharmaceuticals Ltd, for providing the requested samples in time to carry out my research work successfully.

I am proud to record the contributions from my colleagues and staff members in the Pharmacy department of Saraswati Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences (SIPS) and Library faculties who directly or indirectly gave a helping hand during the course of study.

I am very grateful to pharmacy students who in one way or another were assistance especially when the research work requires for continues monitoring for days. I am indebted to my many student colleagues for providing a stimulating and fun filled environment.
I am also proud to record the contributions from staff members in the Pharmacy department of Shri Jagdish Prasad Jhabarmal Tibrewala University (JJTU) and Library faculties who directly or indirectly gave a helping hand during the course of study.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one. Besides this, several people have knowingly and unknowingly helped me in the successful completion of this project.

Last but not the least, my family and the one above all of us, the omnipresent God, for answering my prayers for giving me the strength to plod on despite my constitution wanting to give up and throw in the towel, thank you so much Dear Lord.
