ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Most of the information contained in this study is the direct result of the work of the many scholars, teachers, librarians, managers of the IT companies, employees and authors who offered their time to respond to my inquiries, sharing their experience and knowledge of their holdings. They also made available descriptions and indexes that they or others had. I am sure some of them grew weary of my requests for material. This survey was only possible because of their assistance and their generosity. I wholeheartedly thank them.

These endeavors evolved out of a class project beginning during MBA programme. Throughout the project, a tremendous amount of support came from my supervisor, Prof. Mukesh Dhunna, Dear & Director, Institute of Management Studies & Research, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak (Haryana). It was his intellectual acumen; knowledge and expertise that helped the study finally see the light of the day. Many many thanks to you SIR.

Teachers at the Institute of Management Studies & Research, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak (Haryana) and specially the members of the Research Committee deserve special mention for giving constructive guidelines and suggestions at various research meetings.

My wife Mrs Meenu Kaushik deserves special thanks for extending her full moral support during the conception and specially during the analysis of the data.

The whole effort shall be inconclusive if the contribution of my daughter Bhavna and my son Anubhav is not acknowledged for the consistent pressure they exerted over me in completing the study. Thank you kids for making available the conducive environment at home during the busy hours.

Many thanks to my friend Mr. Vinod, who made painstaking efforts in collecting the huge data from various institutions.

The entire staff of the office of IMSAR gladly offered their resources; I thank them for cooperation extended and administrative clearances.
