ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience to me. First of all, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my mentor Dr. G. Dominic Savio, Associate Professor and Head (Undergraduate), Postgraduate and Research Department of English, and Dean of Curriculum Development and Research, The American College, for helping me make this Ph.D. Thesis a possibility. His learned acumen, and friendly nature has always made me feel at ease with him and I could always look back on him for any support during my course of study. He patiently provided the vision and encouragement necessary for me to proceed through the doctoral programme and complete my dissertation. His advice on both research as well as on my career have been invaluable. During my initial days, when I was apprehensive about research, he came to my rescue with his intelligent ideas, and comprehensive understanding to help me sail through the initial fumbling. I will never find words to tell what I owe to him and I feel privileged to be his student, a feeling that every student of his will share.

I thank the Principal of Fatima College, Dr. Sr. Jospin Nirmala Mary, for giving me the opportunity to avail the UGC XI Plan FDP leave for fifteen months and then eight months of extension. I wish to thank Dr. Sr. Flora Mary, former Principal who gave an opportunity to work in a prestigious institution like Fatima College. My thanks are also due to former Principal, Dr. Sr. Ignatius Mary of Fatima College who always took interest in my career. My special words of thanks should also go to Secretary, Sr. Esther Mary of Fatima College, for always being kind and helpful to me. Her constant support has always kept me going ahead.

I acknowledge with gratitude the concern lavished on me by Dr. Ms. Eva D’Cruz, former Head of the Department of English, Fatima College. She has been influential in grooming me as a perpetual learner cum teacher.

I express my heartfelt thanks to Dr. M. Davamani Christober, Principal and Secretary of the American College, for giving me an opportunity to work in this institution and making the facilities available for carrying out research. I thank Dr. S.
Stanley Mohandoss Stephen, Head of the Postgraduate and Research Department of English, The American College, for making my stay at the American College PG English Departmental library a very pleasant and memorable one.

For this research, material was essential. I collected a lot; many people helped me in this endeavour, for which I would like to thank them wholeheartedly. I specially thank my niece Ms. Swapna and her husband Mr. Francis in Australia for sending me books from Australia. I thank Mr. Rayson Alex for helping me with a material which was very helpful to me. I thank Ms. Prabhavathy, Librarian of Fatima College, for the help she rendered cheerfully while I used the Rose Mystica Library.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge Mr. Ebenezer Fenn, librarian, SCILET, for providing me a good ambiance which helped me perform my work comfortably. I was very glad to work in a bird sanctuary like the American College as it is a habitat of rare birds. I am grateful to the Staff of SCILET for their innumerable help to me and specially Mrs. Prabha for helping me to find the books.

I would like to express my special words of gratitude to Mr. T. Ganesh Babu, Librarian of SCILET, for his valuable support and collaboration in shaping this thesis in its present form. He is a perfectionist who does his work in a meticulous way.

I would like to acknowledge all the teachers I learnt from since childhood. I would not have been here without their guidance, blessing and support. I thank all my well-wishers, friends and colleagues for their support and encouragement.

I thank my husband, CA Mr. Eugene Gunasekaran, FCA and my dear children, Renny Karen and Vivian Richy for having been a source of inspiration throughout my research career.
