

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Words are not enough to convey the deep sense of gratitude I owe Dr.E.James Reynold Daniel, Principal, Scott Christian College (Autonomous), Nagercoil, under whose inspiring guidance this dissertation was an absolute joy to create. I consider myself very fortunate in getting this nonpareil as the guide who is a rare intellectual, a cherished teacher and an earnest critic excelling in stimulating new ideas. His vision, insight, encouragement and above all the gift of his invaluable time are instrumental in the successful completion of my work. Let me place on record my profound sense of esteem and indebtedness to my Guide.

Dr. S.Chandralekha, Reader in English, Sree Ayyappa College for Women, Nagercoil deserves my special thanks for introducing me to such an inimitable guide and supervisor. She has remained a source of inspiration, encouragement and valuable suggestions throughout the period of my research. I owe much to her for her support and love which have sustained and strengthened me in my endeavour.

I am highly indebted to my revered teacher Mrs. Radha Devi Nair, former Lecturer (SG) in English, Sree Ayyappa College for Women, Nagercoil whose concern and erudition have as always prompted me to do the best. My sincere thanks are also due to Mrs. G.Sarasamma, former Principal, Sree Ayyappa College for Women, Nagercoil for her affection and guidance which were of considerable importance to me. I am grateful to Mrs.R.Remadevi, Selection Grade Lecturer in English, Sree Ayyappa College for Women, Nagercoil, for her generous help and moral support. I thank my beloved teachers of the Department of English, Sree Ayyappa College for Women, Nagercoil whose blessings have boosted up my morale to pursue a higher degree.

I owe sincere gratitude to (Late) Dr.P.Padmanabhan Thampi, Department of Tamil, University of Kerala, Thiruvananthapuram, who was gracious enough to teach me more about the nuances of a comparative study.

My sincere thanks are also due to Dr.Babu Markose Abraham, Professor and Head of the Department of English, Kanchi Mamunivar (Govt.) Centre for Post Graduate Studies, Pondicherry for giving me valuable suggestions and relevant reference books for the research work. Dr.S.R.Singara Subramanian, and Mr.K.Manoharan, Department of Earth Sciences, Annamalai University deserve a special word of thanks for their help and encouragement.

I also wish to express my gratitude to the Principal and my colleagues in the Department of English, C.Kandaswami Naidu College for Women, Cuddalore for their encouragement and concern in the completion of my thesis.

I extend my sincere gratitude to the Librarians of the following libraries for giving me permission to avail the facilities from -- SCILET, American College, Madurai, Institute of English, Thiruvananthapuram, Scott Christian College, Sree Ayyappa College, Nagercoil and C.Kandaswami Naidu College for Women, Cuddalore.

This thesis would not have been completed if my beloved family members had not stood by me. My mother-in-law, Mrs. S.Vasantha deserves my sincere thanks for being so supportive. I remember with gratitude, my father-in-law (Late) Mr. M.Muraleedharan who had wanted me to excel.

The research work would not have progressed in such earnestness without the invaluable and unstinting support and guidance of my husband Dr.M.V.Mukesh, Senior Scale Lecturer in Earth Sciences, Annamalai University. He should be thanked specially for the neat typing of this thesis which saved me lot of time and energy. My children Sidharth and Silpa deserve my thanks for being so understanding when on occasions I had to neglect them to pursue my research.

I remember with gratitude my beloved father (Late) Mr. P. Gopala Krishnan for instilling the love of English in me and I thank my mother Mrs. S.Saradha Amma for remaining the pillar of strength and sustenance.

My everlasting gratitude is also due to God Almighty for the successful completion of the dissertation.
