ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In preparing this thesis, many persons have helped in realizing my goal. I owe an enormous debt of gratitude to my research guide Dr. R. Kannan, whose learning, experience and expertise provided an insight to the intricacies of the subject and the nuances of research methodology. I am indeed thankful for his invaluable academic guidance and encouragement at each and every stage of the study.

I would like to acknowledge the help and cooperation rendered from the Faculty and Students of both American and Lady Doak College for the timely help and cooperation to complete data collection within a scheduled period.

I am grateful for the whole hearted support extended to me by the Principal and my colleagues in the Department of Social Sciences from other departments for enabling me to complete my thesis.

I would like to acknowledge the help I received from the libraries of Madurai Kamaraj University, and the Research Associates of the Sociology Department for their timely help and critical comments offered enabled me to gain new a perspective in improving my thesis.

Special acknowledgments are due to Ms Sandhya Lady Doak College who has been my philosopher and guide enduring, motivating and providing unstinted moral support in numerous ways that cannot be listed or expressed in paper.

In a way special way I owe a deep sense of thanks to my family for their continued support to achieve my goal in the scheduled time.
