

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Human Rights and Women in Kerala is a historical and an exploratory study, dealing with the rights of women in general and women workers in the informal sector in particular and the violations of their rights in our society. Very few studies have been undertaken on women labour in Kerala. It is a modest attempt to point out certain flaws in our laws which deny equality and justice to women in Kerala, the god's own country.

However modest this endeavour, it could not have materialised without the support and co-operation of many of the good-hearted people acquainted with me .I would like to acknowledge them all.

First and foremost, I would like to record my gratitude to Dr. S. Sivadasn, my research guide, Reader in History, Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit, Kalady, for his constructive suggestions and valuable guidance. He gave me full freedom to select such a relevant topic and to express my dream of an equitable society.

I am very much intellectually indebted to Dr. K.N. Panicker, Vice Chancellor of Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit, Kalady, a stalwart of historical studies, for the valuable support he has extended to me.

I am very grateful to Dr.S. Ramachandran Nair, the Head of the Department of history, Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit, Kalady, who gave very helpful and sincere cooperation. Here I remember with gratitude all the teaching and non-teaching staff of the University of Kalady and especially the Department of History.

Justice V.R. Krishna Iyer, Former Judge of Supreme Court of India, and recipient of Padma Vibhushan has blessed me with the dialectics and dynamics of human rights. His rich and valuable library was made accessible to me . Words fail to express the un-repayable debt of gratitude to him.

I am deeply indebted to Dr.Rajan Gurukkal, Director of School of Social Sciences, Kottayam who has been a constant source of inspiration and information to me.

The relevance of Human Rights was kindled in me by Dr.K.K.N.Kurup, former Vice-Chancellor of Calicut University, who was always a guide and philosopher to me. His vision and ideas related to human rights helped me a lot in bringing forth this research piece.

Dr. Micheal Tharakan, of Centre for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram, a social scientist, a guide and philosopher to me, gave me constructive suggestions in women's rights and its violations in Kerala. Throughout my research study, he has been a constant referee to me .

Dr. Mridul Eapen, Professor of Centre for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram, a serious feminist writer on women's predominant part in economic development of the society, inspired me with her insights into the novel ideas on women. She gave me a lot of reference material which I would not have otherwise come across.

I wish to mention with gratitude the scholars like Dr. Jayaraj Professor of History , Madurai Kamaraj University, Dr. A.Subbiayan, the advocate of Human Rights in South India, Dr.K.G.Sankara Pillai, human rights activist, poet laureate and former Principal of Maharaja's College, Ernakulam, Dr.Maheswari Varma, former Head of the Department of Women's Studies, Mysore University, Dr. Nivedita Menon, Professor of Politics in Sree Ram College, Delhi, Dr Martin Patrick, Department of Economics, Maharajas College, Ernakulam, Dr.J. Devika, of CDS, Thiruvananthapuram, Prof. P.G.Ravindran, Professor of National Institute of Law, Kochin, Dr.Neena Joseph, Professor, Institute of Management Studies, Kakkanad, Dr.Salini, Professor of Law College, Ernakulam, Ms.M..Soumini Nelson.M.A.B.ed., Sri R. I thank them all for the valuable suggestions, constructive criticisms, logical advice, translations, proof readings, and all other help rendered to me from the very inception of my study.

My research study has been originated with the help of staff and librarians of various Archives and libraries. Here I acknowledge with thanks the librarians of School of Legal Studies, CUSAT, ICHR Bangalore, Madurai Kamaraj University, British Library, Thiruvananthapuram, Mysore University, RCWS Mumbai, TISS Mumbai, CDS Thiruvananthapuram, Kerala University Library, Karyavattom, Calicut University Library ,Calicut, Sreechitira Thirunal Library, Vanchiyoor, Sakhi Library,Vanchiyoor and SSUS Library, Kalady. I also express my sense of gratitude to the staff of Kerala State Archives, Nalanda, Thiruvananthapuram, Legislative Assembly Archives, Thiruvananthapuram and District Archives, Cochin.

I would like to place on record my heart felt thanks to the Superintendent and Staff of District Sub-Jail, Cochin and to the Sub-Inspector of Police,

Smt.Saramma and other lady Constables in the Ernakulam women's cell, Ernakulam, where I could get direct access to observe various live cases of harassment on women in Cochin city. They helped me giving all the records of violence against women at worksite and domestic sector. My first hand observation at women's cell gave me new insights and new dimension to the violations of women's rights.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not express my sincere gratitude to the workers in the construction sector in Cochin city and its periphery. It is with their sincere cooperation and the intimate responses that I could formulate my inferences. The migrant women workers from Tamilnadu staying at Vathuruthy,Kochi, also responded in Tamil and Malayalam very warmly to me, especially I remember the most active maestri like workers Muthumani, Shivamma, and Kashmani. They took me all around the places to meet other working women like them and gave me warm response in their one roomed shelter.

I put on record my heartfelt thanks to my Ammachi, the only source of my energy, my family members, friends, relatives and colleagues whose help and enquires about my study compelled me to complete this venture.

My special thanks are due to Sri. Udayan and Ms. Bincy and all others for their sincere help in doing computer work of all the materials in time.

My very special thanks are there to my Joe, Jim and Dave who are broaded-minded enough to bear with all my 'thamasha'.

I conclude here remembering with gratitude everyone who helped me in one way or other in the completion of this work.
