ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A thesis like this can only be completed with the support and involvement of a wide range of individuals. I owe an enormous amount of debt to many distinguished people for this and I express my deep sense of gratitude to all those who extended help in the preparation of this thesis. However, my most grateful thanks must go to the individuals mentioned below who gave up their time in guiding me and constantly inspiring me to complete this thesis on time.

At the outset, I am grateful to Dr. M.V.V.S. Murthi, Hon’ble President, GITAM University, who is instrumental for giving me an opportunity to join teaching profession after my long service in industry. He inspired me at every stage, encouraged me to take up doctoral research and helped me in all my endeavors.

It is my good fortune to be associated with my Principal Research Guide Prof. G. Raghavaiah & Co-Research Guide Dr. Y.V.V.S.S.S. Vara Prasad, GITAM Institute of Management, GITAM University, who stood behind me as a tower of strength and whose analytical ability and deep insight into the problem benefited me throughout the preparation of the thesis. I owe an ineffable debt of gratitude to him for his guidance and support throughout my research study. I have great pleasure and privilege to acknowledge and express my profound sense of gratitude to Prof. K. Siva Rama Krishna, Principal & Dean, GITAM Institute of Management, GITAM University, who shaped my career first as a teacher and then as a researcher. I have great pleasure to acknowledge continuous encouragement and support of Prof. P. Sheela, Vice Principal, GITAM Institute of Management, GITAM University. But for their untiring, persevering and scholastic guidance and direction in carrying out this work successfully, the present study would have remained unexplored.

I convey my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Prof. G. Subrahmanyam, Vice Chancellor of GITAM University for his invaluable inspiration and continuous encouragement throughout my research study. I am also grateful to Prof. D. Harinarayana, Pro-Vice-Chancellor, GITAM University for his help, guidance, encouragement and support in preparing the thesis.
I convey my sincere thanks to Dr. Praseeda Challapalli, Associate Professor in Management, SRM University, suggesting me appropriate statistical techniques for the analysis of data.

I am very much obliged to the Management of Visakhapatnam Steel Plant for permitting me to conduct this study in their company. I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to all those managers of Visakhapatnam Steel Plant who generously and patiently extended their cooperation and help in filling up the schedules and openly ventilating their views in enriching the content of this thesis. I am particularly grateful to Sri P Madhusudan, Chairman-cum-Managing Director, Dr. G.B.S Prasad, Director (Personnel), Dr. Y.R. Reddy, Former Director (Personnel) Shri TK Chand, Director (Commercial) and Shri Umesh Chandra, Director (Operations), RINL, who spared their time to interact with me and provided me valuable information relevant to the study. Particularly, I acknowledge the help received from Shri. R. Shankar, GM (Corporate Planning), Dr. S.R. Mallikharjuna Rao, GM (Training & HRD), Dr. O. Ram Mohan Rao, AGM (HRD) and Shri. B.S. Madhukar, DGM (HRD) for extending their cooperation and sharing valuable data relating to RINL for my study. I am very much thankful to Shri EBS Prasad, ED (HR), VSP, for his help in providing the material and data during various stages of this study. I would like to express my thanks to my colleagues in GITAM University for the assistance provided in preparation of this thesis.

I immensely thank all the respondents who provide the basic data by responding to all questions on fifteen drivers and also gave their views on the status of Employee Engagement in Visakhapatnam Steel Plant.

I am greatly beholden to my Parents and Parent-in-laws for their incredible support without which I would not have reached this milestone. I am also indebted to my husband G. Sriram and my son G. Mohith Sai Chaitanya and my sister and brothers for their constant support throughout this journey of academic excellence and my sincere thanks to the Departmental Research Committee Members for their valuable guidance to finish my research work.
