ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

No idea can really be said to be original - for every new idea is a development of the countless ideas which have gone before it. Any study is therefore merely an expression of the knowledge, experience and skill acquired during the researcher’s life-time of contact with other people. Often, I hit upon an idea, and assume it to be my own, but realize soon after that another person / writer had already thought about it! To all those people who have in many ways been influential in my professional growth, and who have therefore, contributed to the ideas expressed in this study, I owe my gratitude. Indeed, my life was enriched by many along the way. However, my special thanks are due to:

- Prof. S.K. Verma, former Vice-Chancellor, CIEFL, for the concern he showed while I was during my research.
- Prof. Pramod Talgeri, Vice Chancellor, CIEFL, for granting me study leave for a period of two years, and for his constant encouragement.
- Prof. V. Prakasam, Prof. Priya Hosali, Prof. S.V. Parasher, Prof. T. Sriraman, Prof. Tapas Shanker Raj, Prof. Mukta Prahlad, Prof. Rachel Lalitha Eapen, Dr. Lakshmi Chandra, Dr. Mahasweta Sengupta, Dr. Surabhi Bharati, Dr. R. Kishore Kumar, Mr. K. Satya Narayana for bearing with the inconveniences and sharing all the departmental work during my absence.
- Prof. V.D. Singh my supervisor at CIEFL, for his untiring patience with my manuscripts and for his valuable suggestions and comments throughout this project. I consider myself fortunate to get this opportunity to work with a person like him, who insists on systemacity, organization, logical arguments and some of the “subheadings”, to channelise my thoughts. I do not know how to express my gratitude to Mrs. Singh, who provided me with a “home-away-from-home.”
- Prof. Jacob Tharu, my supervisor and “mentor”, who provided me with a theoretical foundation, and shared with me his wealth of knowledge and strategies for working with “teachers” doing this “participatory research”. He generously gave his time (even during holidays) and invaluable comments which moved me to new levels of meaning. He has a way of doing things with a “thoughtful touch.” Like a true friend he asked me to “relax and forget about research” when I was unwell in Calcutta. But when I returned to CIEFL, he kept a careful watch on me and insisted on its completion inspite of my numerous commitments. I am grateful to Prof. Susie Tharu, Miko and Jomo for providing me with another “oasis”.

The Vice Chancellor and Members of the UGC Unassigned Grant Committee for granting the “UGC Minor Research Project” Grant, without which my “field work” would have been difficult in the various parts of Andhra Pradesh, Orissa, and West Bengal. I am grateful to Dr. Kalayana Samantaray, for providing me with a “refuge” at Cuttack, and Dr. Susmita Pani, for providing me a “shelter” at Bhubaneswar during my field work.

I am grateful to Ms. Nita Das, Ms. Ranjana Das, Ms. Santilatha Giri, Dr. Sumita Misra, Dr. Gangadhar Misra, Ms. Sujatha Sahu, Anusha, Fatima, Pravind, Niharika, Pushpa, Pushpalata, Banani, Radha, Ratna, Mangala, Piku, Rina, Indrani, Sudeshna, Sukti, Hutoxi, Ashima, Angshuman and Krishnadi for all their contributions in my “data-collection”.

Prof. Helen Christensen, Prof. Jean McNiff and Prof. Harry Wolcott for sparing their valuable time in corresponding with me and providing guidance in various stages of the study.

Prof. Donald Freeman, for his comments on some of my case studies, when I presented a paper at RELC, Singapore, in 1998.

Dr. Kalayana Malini Sahoo from Norwegian University of Science and Technology, for the books and journals on “Teacher Thinking”.

Prof. Rani Rubdy, Prof. S. Rama Devi and Dr. Jayagowri ShivaKumar, for their valuable suggestions during my data-analysis.

Ms. Sushama Chaturvedi for helping me with the analysis of the data.

Mr. Srikan Prabhakar and Mrs. Suman Pillai for illustrating some of my “narratives” and “descriptions”.

All the in-service teachers who participated in the study and answered my questionnaires so patiently. Without their cooperation, this study would not have been possible.

During the manuscript's development, the following friends did a meticulous job with proof reading: Dr. Hemalatha Nagarajan, Ms. Shruti Sircar, Dr. Kalyani Samantaray, Ms. Vasanthan Chefamala, Mr. Prasanta Acharyya, and Ms. Sanghita Sen. Thanks for their timely help.

Dr. Akella Ramdas, Dr. Charumati Ramdas, Dr. Indrani Mukherjee, Mr. John Verghese, Mr. Rajiv Shungloo, Ms. Sachi Madhavan, Dr. Ajit Kumar, Dr. I. S. Dagar for being very supportive and excellent neighbours.

Tanvir, Meera, Ranjana, Aamli, Anjali, Raju, Pranav, Geetha, Neeraja, Shanu and Vicky for their laughter and constant cheer.

Dr. T. Sriram Ratha, Dr. S. Mohanraj and Dr. Jayashree Mohanraj for their suggestions on "time-management", and constant support, which they provided in more ways than one.

Dr. L.S. Ramaiah and Dr. T.A. V. Murthy, Librarian, Dr. N. V. Jagga Rao, Dr. N. Satish, Mr. Tapan Mandal, Mr. Prabhakara, Mr. Narendra Kumar, Mr. Pranob, and their colleagues for the help extended by them while I was concentrating on my research.

Mr. B. Uttam Sagar, Mr. M. Nagender, Mr. S. Ravi Kumar, Mr. K. Vinod, Mr. P. Yadagiri and Mr. M. Anjaneyulu of Mili's Copy Corner for their efficient typing, formatting and untiring patience.

Swami Ranganathananda, President, Ramkrishna Math, who instilled confidence in me that I can make a difference in the lives of "teachers" and students.

Prof. D. Gupta Sarma and Mrs. Ishita Gupta Sarma who literally stood by my side and trained me in all the skills with the computer.

Thanks are also due to my sister Tripty, and my brothers Ramen, Amitava, Ashtava, my sisters-in-law, Suzanne and Susmita and my nephew and nieces Soumen, Marjorie, and Shaoni who visited me while I was completing the manuscripts, and renewed my inspiration.

My parents, my first "educators", who had the vision to make my childhood rich, allowing me to explore many of life's options, they always thought I could do anything. My mother, with her silent affection, taught me gardening, dancing, painting, love for nature and music. My father showed me the joys of photography, "nomadic life" and "collaborative cultures". We had a stream of visitors whether we lived in a "tent" or a "mansion", and for my parents it was never a bother! I dedicate my study to them.
