PREFACE

The present thesis on "Religion, Religious Harmony and Religious Conflicts in Medieval Tamilnadu" (From 6th Century to 12th century A.D.) is the outcome of my research in the School of Historical Studies, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai, under the able guidance of Dr.B.S.Chandrababu. The present study identifies the dimensions of religion, religious harmony and religious conflicts in medieval Tamilnadu. In the present endeavour, many have helped me.

First, I pay my respects to Dr.B.S.Chandrababu, my guide, Prof and Head in Medieval History and Chairperson in the School of Historical Studies, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai. He was kind enough to spare me sufficient time in the making of the thesis and his guidance was of great help to me. I am deeply indebted to him.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr.D.Daniel, Dr.T.Ramasamy, Dr.R.Santhakumar and Dr.Nagoorkani, Madurai Kamaraj University, who were encouraging to me.

A word of gratitude goes to Prof. Dr. Raju Kalidos (now retired) of the Tamil University, Thanjavur, an expert in the field who offered me technical advices on the subject. He went through the first draft of the thesis and gave me valuable suggestions.

I reveal my thanks to Dr. Jambulingam and Dr. Udayakumar of the Tamil University for their help and suggestions.

I am thankful to the Director of the Tamil University Library and the staff, I am also thankful to the Department of Epigraphy and Archaeology of the Tamil University, Thanjavur.

I am thankful to the Joint Director (H.S.E), Chennai; CEO, Virudhunagar and Headmaster of the Govt. Hr. Sec. School, Malaippatti, Virudhunagar District, for granting me permission to do Ph.D.

It is with great pleasure that I record my respects to my parents, Sri. K.Pakkirisamy and Mrs. P.Kamakshi and I reveal my thanks to my brothers, P. Kamaraj and K.Pugalendiran. I register my sincere regards to my husband, Er. V. Panneerselvam who has supported me in all ways.

I reveal my thanks to Bharath Xerox, Aruppukottai.

Once again I record my indebtedness to all those that helped me in the present study.
