

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

When you start your journey with firm foot to stop at a peak, then it seems that I myself have to carry up to that peak. Once you finishes your journey and land on that peak u realize that, had it not been the firm support and friendly push of people across the journey, the journey would have been a daydream without any saga of peak in it. It's not possible to undue the support and faith of people showed to me, still God has given me this small opportunity to express my string of harmony overloaded with feelings of gratitude to all who guided and uplifted me to this peak. It's only a small opportunity in comparison to the good will shown by people to me. Several people have been instrumental in making this thesis possible and I grab this opportunity to thank them all for their invaluable contributions.

My heartfelt veneration goes to my caring mother and respected father- they bore me, raised me, supported me, taught me and loved me. They have always emphasized the importance of studying and provided opportunities to allow me to pursue my dreams. I just won't thank my brother, Rishu but would like to express my love for being such a loving brother with vibrant mind, jolly nature and soft heart. Thanks to my fiancée, Harman for being patient and strong support. I really want to say that she just stayed behind firmly like pillar of strength. Success is something which you will share with someone who is the closest to your heart. My family has been my strength & without them I would not be where I am now.

Whatever you do, there is a reason behind it and it is this person, which directs you towards the success. With proud and honor, I can say that, Dr. Manu Sharma is the energy without which I could not have reach at this stage. I know words are not enough to mention the efforts and ideas, which are the inspiration for me, rather each one who is under his guidance. His encouraging support, endeavor inspiration, perseverance and suggestion constantly motivated me to put everything to achieve the target without being disappointed by failures.

It is my proud privilege to express my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Simran Tandon, who always showed concern and helped whenever required. I have no words to express the kind of supports she has extended to me for the successful completion of my research work.
