ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I was fortunate to have had the opportunity to work under the guidance of Prof. Anjali Mookerjee, who not only inspired me throughout my research work but also tried to inculcate in me a scientific temperament. I am immensely indebted to her for her constant guidance and facilities provided by her. I am also thankful to her for her valuable suggestions and critical comments in preparing this manuscript.

I express my sincere thanks to Prof. H.K. Das, Dean, School of Environmental Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University for his interest in this work and facilities extended.

I cannot forget the inspiration and affection I received from Prof. Sivatosh Mookerjee, FNA, during my academic career. I am grateful to him for rendering all the necessary help.

It is a great pleasure to appreciate the encouragement and assistance provided by all my seniors - Rita Mukhopadhyay, Somdatta Sinha and especially Sudipto Das, and colleagues - Anuradhadi, Arun, Amita, Archna, Aniruddha, Brajendra Kumar, Deepali, Girdhari Lal, Ira, Inamul Saab, Indranil, Jayaraman, Jaiprakash, Malaya, Meetha, Meeradi, Nirupam, Niranjan, Ramaiah, Ratna, Sumita, Someshda and Yadavji during this work. I am also thankful to Mr. A.C. Sen for his cooperation in my work.
I cannot express adequately my gratefulness to Dr. Kamalesh Bhowmick of NIMHANS, Bangalore, who devoted a considerable amount of his valuable time to go through this work.

I also express my thanks to Prof. Binayak Dutta Ray of Saha Institute of Nuclear Physics, Calcutta for helping me in the theoretical part of the work.

Perhaps it would have been impossible to complete the computational work without the help of Shri Krishna Rao of National Informatics Centre, New Delhi, to whom I am highly grateful.

I am highly thankful to Shri C.H. Ramarathnam and Madhabi, Gajanan, Ramprasad for typing work and Shri Nagendra Roy, Shri A.C. Alexander, Shri Chinmay Nath and Shri Dipankar Sur for technical assistance.

The facilities provided by National Informatics Centre, Electronic Commission, New Delhi, is thankfully acknowledged.

The financial assistance provided by Jawaharlal Nehru University as U.G.C. fellowship is also acknowledged.

Subhendu Ghosh