

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My research work is a result of efforts and motivations by many people. There are a few of them without whom it would have been impossible for me to complete my research work. I would like to take this opportunity to thank them.

I wish to express my deep and sincere gratitude to my research guide Dr. Meera Shanker for her guidance, inspiration and motivation in carrying out my doctoral studies. She never made me feel that she was the 'Guide' and I was the student. It is because of her support that I could synchronize the efforts in covering manifold features of research work undertaken.

I am fortunate to have a great family who supported me throughout the entire period of my studies. To my husband Shekhar -thank you for your inspirations –you will never know how much you motivated me through this period -without which I might not have even thought of doing Ph.D. To my son Rigved –Thank you for your patience and understanding. You gave me time to become a student again. My special thanks to my mother-in law for her inspirations and blessings. To my mother and father of course –without their love and support, I would have never made it.

I would also like to give my sincere thanks to all four organizations from pharmaceutical industry and the respective human resources managers who agreed to allow me to conduct my study in their organizations. Also all those who agreed to participate in the study deserve special thanks from me.

On personal note, I thank Dr.P.K.Gupta for the professional and academic guidance given to me and Dr.O.B.Sayeed for valuable suggestions and recommendation during planning phase of my research work .

Finally -there are many more people who have contributed towards completion of this research work, I cannot begin to list everyone who helped me but I extend my thanks to each one of them.
