ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am very grateful to Prof. Asis Datta for his expert guidance and encouragement throughout the progress of this work. I also thank him for having been patient and tolerant towards my slowness in producing results.

I take this opportunity to thank all my lab mates, Bipasna, Rai, Reddy, Malaya, Natarajan and Mishra for their immense help and support which saw me through some difficult times during this period both in and out of the lab. I must also thank them for bearing with my unmendable ways of working. I am thankful to Bishnu Pada Mondal, Chhotelal and Dharamveer for their laboratory assistance.

I am very grateful to Dr. S.K. Sopory for his helpful suggestions and Prof. H.K. Das for allowing me to use his laboratory facilities. I would also like to thank all the other teachers and friends in the school.

I am indebted to Prof. N.K. Gupta, Nebraska, USA for supplying us E. coli synthetase without which a major part of this research would not have been possible. I am very grateful to Prof. J. Padayatty and Prof. G. Padmanabhan, IISc, Bangalore, for helping me with some techniques.

I am grateful to Mr. Alexander, Mr. Ahmad and Mr. Kripal Singh for their technical assistance and co-operation, Mr. Rashid for looking after the barley plants, Mr. Saini for art and photographic work, Mr. Ramprasad and Mr. Ahuja for their expert typing, Mr. Sharma for the xeroxing work. I would like to thank Messrs Friends Typewriter Company for their co-operation. I am extremely grateful to Reddy, Bipasha, Natarajan, Mishra, Roopa, Tibs and Vasanthi for patiently correcting the manuscript of this thesis.

I thank my mother and all at home for their constant couragement and moral support without which this project would not have been a success. And my special thanks are due to Tibs for all his help, understanding, encouragement and support in many a ways. I feel extremely thankful to him for having so patiently tolerated my moods which fluctuated with the results of my lab work. I thank Vasanthi and Babita for being ever so helpful at home. I am very grateful to Suman and her family for all their help in various ways.

I thank UGC and CSIR for providing the financial assistance during this period.
