Acknowledgement

It gives me pleasure to express my heart-felt gratitude to the individuals and institutions, which helped in the preparation of my thesis.

The greatest contribution in this endeavour comes from my supervisor Dr. Minati Panda who was always available. Her intellectual inputs and constant support and guidance were invaluable. The final form of this thesis is the outcome of her patient reading and meticulous corrections. It would be an oversight if I did not express my thanks to the faculty members of Zakir Husain Centre of Educational Studies (ZHCES): namely, Prof Geeta Nambissan, Prof A.K. Mohanty, Prof. Deepak Kumar, Prof. Binod Khadria, Dr. Dhruv Raina, Dr. Srinivas Rao, Dr. Saumen Chattopadhyay and Dr. Mishra Arvind. The support staff of ZHCES office who were of much help in facilitating the official process.

I also owe a deep gratitude to University of Zambia, the Vice-Chancellor, Staff Development Officers for the opportunity for me to pursue this degree and colleagues in the department and School of Education for their unflinching support and encouragement. I also owe my gratefulness to the Headteacher and staff of the research school and through them the learners who cooperated with me in conducting my study.

I would like to thank my friends in JNU who gave me support all the time. I would like to place on record special thanks to them. Their names are Mr Venkatesh & Selvi Komati, David Ongarora Ogoti, Murimi Gaita, Kioli Felix Ngunzo, Jenipher Jaramba, Chris Ali Galgalo, Saraf & Nimie. Special thanks go to Murimi Gaita and Selvi Komati who took time to proof read and offer guidance whenever possible. Thank you for the tremendous support and for always being there for me.

I owe and greatly cherish the unflinching support and encouragement from my spouse Winnie S. Ndhlovu. She was always there for me. My children Thandekile, Suwilanji and Funwayo, thank you for your moral support and loving words. I would also like to thank my mother, Gogo Gondwe, and my brothers and sisters and their families who rendered support throughout the study period.

Lastly but not the least I would like to extend my gratitude to the Zambian Embassy staff in New Delhi, in particular the High Commissioner and his Deputy. Also special thanks to General S. Ngongola and his family and Mr. L. Choombe and his family for making my stay in Delhi much easier and comfortable.
