ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Over the last seven years in the course of finalizing the topic of the thesis collecting the source material for the topic and finalizing the draft of the thesis, I have received encouragement and help from a large number of persons. It is impossible to list the names of all these persons who directly or indirectly supported me during this period. I shall content my self with mentioning only a few.

At the outset, I wish to record my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Shadaksharaiah, Professor, Department of History, Bangalore University, Bangalore-560 056. He has not only guided me but also helped me to sustain my interest in the subject and complete the study. He has been extremely sympathetic and kind to me during the period of research study.

I acknowledge with gratitude the encouragement given by beloved teachers in the Department of History, Bangalore University during my research. I thank Dr. M. Jamuna, Professor and Chairperson, Department of History, Bangalore University, Bangalore for her co-operation and support. I particularly thank to Dr. N. Shaik Masthan, Dr. Ashwathnarayana, Dr. Usha, Dr. Nagarathnamma and others.

I thank Dr. M. Govindappa and Dr. K. Mahesh who were a constant source of inspiration for me, for the sincere help and assistant has extended during the research work.

My thanks are also to the staff of the Karnataka State Archives, Bangalore. Library of Institute of Social and Economic Change (ISEC), Bangalore, Library of Karnataka State Gazetteer, Bangalore and the Library of Mythic Society, ICHR, Bangalore for having extended all facilities to carry out this research work.

With a sense of deep gratitude I thank my management Bharath Education Society and also I thank my colleagues teaching and non-teaching staff and Principals of BES Day and Evening Colleges.

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to my wife K.S. Sowmya for her assistance during the period of my research work. I thank my son Master Arya, daughter Kum. Anagha for encouraging me during my studies. I extend my gratitude to all the well wishers who helped me directly or indirectly during my research.

Finally I thank my brothers and relatives and friends who have helped me to complete the work.

Research Scholar
(T.S. DEVENDRA)