ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I find no words to express my hearty and deepest sense of gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Sudesh Nangia, in the department of Center for Studies in Regional Development, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi for giving me an opportunity to undertake research in geography in the Department under her kind guidance. As a matter of fact, her interest, sympathy and guidance have been much beyond her formal obligation as a supervisor throughout the preparation of this research work.

My special thanks are expressed to Professor M.D.Vemuri for giving me the course on population policies which oriented the frame of my mind for doing this kind of study, Professor Aslam Mahmud forgive motivational suggestions from time to time, Professor R.K.Sharma, Professor P.M. Kulkarni and Professor Schidanand Sinha for giving advise on statistical techniques. My thanks are due towards Professor M.H.Qureshi for orienting my mind for geographical research. My special thanks are due for Professor S.K.Thorat, under the chairmanship of whom I was given admission in the Department of CSRD, J.N.U., Delhi.

My thanks are due for U.G.C. for sanctioning study leave, New Delhi and giving partial financial assistance.

My thanks are due for Mr.Varghese, Salvah and Jitender for giving me computer operational guidance in the department of CSRD.

My thanks are also due towards the office staff of CSRD, J.N.U. New Delhi, especially, Prem Sagar, Sunita and Mahesh for giving ministerial guidance for this study.

I am thankful to Education Department, Haryana for sanctioning my leave for two years for doing this research.

I am grateful to all the officials of the Central and State Governments especially Census, National Informatics Center, Education and Statistical Departments who provided me easy access in procuring the required data / Maps of Secondary/Primary Sources from their offices/departments.

Acknowledgements are gratefully given to the librarians of Jawaharlal Nehru University and NCERT, New Delhi, SCERT, Gurgaon, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak, and Panjab University, Chandigarh with special thanks to Mr. Satinder Kumar, Librarian, CSRD, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi.
I am indeed thankful to my father Dr. Ami Lal and mother Smt. Santosh, sisters, Vijay Wanti and Sarita for bearing with me on all occasions of help, brothers Mahavir Singh and Vikram Singh for helping me whenever it was needed the most. Two youngsters of the family Vinayak and Kheyati need my emotional expressions for their timely pranks in changing moods. I shall be failing in completing my acknowledgements if I do not express my thanks to Dr. Mridul, 'Bhabi' with the new born nephew, Ishan.

I express my acknowledgement to all my external and internal forces who have helped me in pursuing this work with dedication.

(Anita)