ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At this juncture, I would like to express my reverence to my most respected teacher and supervisor Dr. P. M. Kulkarni, Professor, Centre for the Study of Regional Development, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, for his keen interest, unfailing patience, highly methodical supervision and high quality guidance, in the absence of which this research study was not possible to complete on time. It was due to his constant motivation, regular monitoring and extreme affection for the students that made this work reach at completion for which I express my gratefulness from the core of my heart.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Harjit Singh, Dean, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, for his constant support. I am grateful to Dr. R. K. Sharma, Chairperson, Centre for the Study of Regional Development, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, for his constant help, motivation and support that helped in completion of this research work.

I owe my special gratitude to Dr. Muralidhar Vemuri, Dr. Sudesh Nangia, Dr. Saraswati Raju and Dr. Sachidanand Sinha, for their valuable suggestions and encouragement in completing the research work. I am thankful from the core of my heart to all faculty members and other staff members of the Centre for the Study of Regional Development for their support directly or indirectly during my research.

It is a great pleasure on this occasion to acknowledge all my respected teachers who taught since school days to university level education. Without their support, encouragement, motivation, discipline and constant guidance I could not have reached at this stage.

I am grateful to Jawaharlal Nehru University Central Library, Documentation Unit of Centre for the Study of Regional Development, Documentation Unit of Centre for Social Medicine and Community Health; Documentation Centre of Population Foundation of India, National Medical Library, Library of National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, Voluntary Health Association of India, World Bank, United Nations, National Council of Applied Economic Research, Delhi School of Economics, Institute of Economic Growth, Council for Social Development, Indian Council of Social Sciences Research, New Delhi; Library of International Institute for Population Sciences, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai; Institute of Social and Economic Change Library, Bangalore; Library of Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand; National University of Singapore, Singapore; University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia considering me to consult the books, journals and reading materials for my research work.

I take this opportunity to express my special thanks to the International Institute for Population Sciences, Mumbai, for making available all large scale surveyed data and reports especially the District Level Household Survey-Reproductive and Child Health (DLHS-RCH), 2002-04.

I would like to specially thank Mr. Partha Chattopadhyay, Chief Director, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, New Delhi, for his timely help, generous support and constant motivation during my research. My special thanks to Dr. P. Padmanaban, Director, Department of Public Health and Preventive Medicine, Chennai, Tamil Nadu, for permitting me to visit and conduct the survey at public health centres in Villupuram district, Tamil Nadu.

I am also thankful to Dr. K. Krishnaraj and Dr. R. Narayanaswamy, Deputy Directors of Health Services (DDHS), Villupuram District, for their timely support. The immense help provided by Mr. K. Subramaniyam, Superintendent, DDHS, Villupuram division, at every stage of my field visits was gratefully acknowledged.

I must not forget to thank, all medical officers, pharmacists, nurse and other staffs at public health centres in Villupuram District, Tamil Nadu, for allowing and providing the necessary information and cooperating with me for conducting this research work. Without their invaluable help and support it was not possible to conduct the survey for this research. I wish to acknowledge my special thanks to all respondents particularly Dr. Durai, Dr. Malarvizhi, and Dr. Sathish Kumar in the study area who despite their busy schedule spared their valuable time for my field visits.

I am thankful to all the persons who helped me during fieldwork in Tamil Nadu. I am deeply touched by the hospitality extended to me by the schoolteachers, village presidents and panchayat clerks during my long stay with them in the study areas. I am thankful to all the respondents who patiently answered all my questions without any expectations from me.

I express my gratefulness from the core of my heart to Dr. G. Rangaiyan, UNAIDS, New Delhi, for his brotherly nature, timely support, enormous help, and valuable advice from time to time during my research.

I am highly indebted to Dr. Maatthai K. Mathiyazhagan, National University of Singapore, Singapore, Dr. R. Nagarajan, Gokhale Institute of Politics & Economics, Pune, Dr. N. Audinarayana, Professor, Bharathiar University, Tamil Nadu, Dr. Damodar Sahu, National Institute of Medical Statistics, New Delhi, and Dr. M. Sivakami, Institute of Social and Economic Change, Bangalore, Dr. P. Ramesh for their continuous encouragement, invaluable support and friendly nature.

My special thanks and gratitude are due to Dr. Abusaleh Shariff, Chief Economist, NCAER, New Delhi and Dr. K. Kalavani, Professor, NIHFW, New Delhi, for their support, encouragement and allow me to access valuable research materials.

I am grateful to Dr. A. Subbiah, Professor, Annamalai University, Tamil Nadu, for his constant encouragement and moral support during my research period. I also express my thanks to Dr. P. Elango, Dr. S. Ramachandran, Dr. P. Chandran, and Dr. A. K. Ravishankar, from Annamalai University, Tamil Nadu, for their support.

I would like to convey my special thanks to Dr. Amy Ong Tsui and Dr. Michael A. Koenig, for their encouragement, timely support and access to research materials during workshop and short course with which I could enrich my knowledge on population and reproductive and sexual health.

I also express my thanks and gratitude to Dr. C. P. Prakasham, Mr. K. A. Siddiqui, Mr. Lakhara, Mr. Rakesh Arya, Mrs. Manasi Bawadeker, Mr. L. K. Dwivedi, Dr. Satyabhushan, and Ms. Kavery
Ganguly, for their continuous encouragement, support, and help during my research task. I am thankful to Mrs. Sarala Kulkarni and Mrs. Hemavathi Subbiah for constant support, encouragement and motherly nature throughout my research time.

I wish to express my thanks to Mr. Varghese and Mr. Taim Selvan, for allowing me to access the computers in Centre for the Study of Regional Development, Jawaharlal Nehru University and rendering all necessary help, whenever required for timely completion of the research work. I like to extend my special thanks to Mr. Rakesh Joyal, Assistant librarian, Population Foundation of India to access research materials for my doctoral research.

My friends are always the source of motivation. I am really fortunate to have a friend like Ms. Lopamudra Paul at Jawaharlal Nehru University. Though it is difficult to elucidate her valuable support because she is always with me whenever I am in difficulty. I also wish to thank Mr. Siddhardh, for his brotherly help and support to complete this research work on time.

My stay in Jawaharlal Nehru University as a research scholar had been a long cherished dream. During all these years I met many people, had many interactions, learnt many things, every moment was a part of my evolution as a more competent, professional, hard working researcher and a good human being. I feel lucky to earn friends like Dr. Elumalai, Dr. S. Kaushik, Dr. Saswata Ghosh, Mr. Samar, Mr. Ram Kumar, Mr. Binu, Mr. Sivashankar, Mr. Ramajayam, Mr. Elongo, Ms. Beryl Anand, Mr. Harihar Sahoo, Mr. Saroj and Ms. Kavery Ganguly who have been my ‘all weather’ friends and joyful companions. I am also thankful to my all classmates, seniors, juniors, batch mates and hostel mates in Sutlej and Brahmaputra hostels for their constant support, and cooperation during my research work.

I express my sincere gratitude to Mr. N. Soundar Rajan, Mrs. H. Geetha, Mr. J. Velmurugan and Mr. P. Srinivasan, for their support, encouragement since my school days.

I am forever grateful to and express my deep heartfelt gratitude to my parents Mr. M. Chellan and Mrs. S. Pavunammal, who sacrificed their dreams to fulfill my dreams. Without their unfailing patience, wishes, prayers, support, encouragement my Ph. D thesis would not have had come true. My deepest appreciation goes to my brother Mr. Saravanan Chellan, my sister Ms. Prabavathi Chellan for their constant encouragement, cooperation and support throughout my studies. I also express my special thanks to my sister-in-law Mrs. Jayanthi Saravanan for her moral support during crucial time of my research work. I extend my special thanks to all my relatives to encourage me to complete my research.

Lastly, I owe my sincere gratitude to all those who in some way, apparent or unapparent helped me in bringing out this research work in the present form.

(C. RAMESH)