CONTENTS

Acknowledgements
Declaration
Abstract

Chapter 1: Introduction 1-24

1.1 Television
1.2 Use of TV
1.3 TV and Education
1.4 Educational Technology with special reference to TV
1.5 Use of TV in Education - Indian Scene
1.6 Educational Television
1.7 Scheme of Presentation

Chapter 2: Educational Television in Other Countries 25-56

2.1 The Need for a Comparative Study
2.2 Commonwealth Broadcasting Association and its contribution to Educational Television
2.3 Great Britain - A Successful Partnership of Open University and the BBC
2.3.1 Great Britain: Other Universities
2.4 France - Continuing to Experiment with Educational Television
2.5 Canada - Provincialisation of Educational Television
2.6 USA - A Story of Successful Projects
2.7 Australia - The Experiment with Lecture-Controlled Educational Television

2.8 Japan - Sophisticated Broadcasting Service with Extensive State Funding

2.9 China - A Successful Experiment

2.10 Pakistan - A Partial Success

2.11 Iran - NIRTO's Collaboration with Free University

2.12 Poland - Upgrading the Qualifications of Teachers

2.13 Singapore - A Small Country with Big Strides

2.14 Conclusion

Chapter 3: Evolution of Television in Higher Education - The Indian Experience 57-107

3.1 The Beginnings

3.2 SITE

3.2.1 An Assessment of Post-SITE Programmes

3.3 INSAT - A Historic Leap for Countrywide Classroom Programmes

3.4 Educational Television Programmes through Production Centres

3.4.1 DECU

3.4.2 CIET

3.4.3 SIET

3.4.4 IGNOU

3.5 UGC Countrywide Classroom Programmes

3.5.1 Credo of Countrywide Classroom Programmes
3.5.2 Media Centres
3.5.3 The Programmes
3.5.4 Feedback
3.5.5 Tackback Experiments
3.5.6 Appraisal
3.6 Conclusion

Chapter 4: Review of Existing Literature 108–136
4.1 The Concept of Educational Television
4.2 Foreign Studies
4.3 Indian Studies
4.4 Conclusion

Chapter 5: An Empirical Study of the UGC CWCR Programmes in Rayalaseema Region of Andhra Pradesh 137–238
5.1 Purpose and Importance
5.2 Background and Need of the Study
5.3 Objectives of the Study
5.4 Hypotheses
5.5 Aspects of the Problem
5.6 Explanation of various terms used in the Research
5.7 Methodology
5.7.1 Mode of drawing the Samples
5.7.2 Sampling Design
5.7.3 Explanation of the Sample
5.8 Methods of Research
5.8.1 Conduct of Survey
5.8.2 Conduct of the Experiment
5.9 Tools of Research
5.9.1 Questionnaire - its use in Research
5.9.2 Organization of Questionnaire in the Present Research
5.10 Pilot Study
5.11 Field Experiences in Data Collection
5.12 Analysis and Interpretation of Data
5.13 Findings

Chapter 6: Conclusions and Suggestions 239-251

6.1 Conclusions and Suggestions based upon a Theoretical Analysis
6.2 Conclusions and Suggestions based upon the Survey and the Experiment

Appendix - Questionnaire 252

Bibliography 263