ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It has been immensely rewarding to work on this research under the supervision of Dr. C.G. Deshpande, Reader of the Department of Psychology and Honorary Director of Distance Education of the Poona University. His insistence upon clarity and the need to pinpoint theoretical implications of all findings have been extremely valuable to my research. I am indebted to him for providing encouragement, confidence and many courtesies which helped me to complete this research.

I wish to express my deep sense of appreciation and sincere gratitude to him for his able and willing assistance, and the keen interest taken by him throughout this research.

I offer my thanks to Professor M.N. Palsane, Head of the Department of Psychology for his encouragement and frequent enquiries about my work and also to other teachers in the Department, Dr. (Mrs) Wadkar and Dr. Shejwal, in particular.

My sincere thanks are due to the respondents for their willing cooperation; without their participation the research undertaken would not have been possible.

I particularly owe my special thanks to Dr. Roshan Master and Dr. Surab Master who inspite of their multifarious activities helped me with their kind advice and constructive suggestions at different stages of this research.
I am beholden to Dr. Ekbal, the Superintendent of Yeravada Mental Hospital in Pune for making available the psychotics, who were on recovery phase of their illness, for the interview and allowing the use of hospital premises for this purpose. I am thankful for his immense help and advice throughout my field work.

My profound thanks to Dr. Jamadgani, Dr. Kale, Dr. Pande for their help and consistent co-operation in Sasoon Hospital in providing the patients for different sessions.

I am thankful to Dr. Chawgule and Dr. Pant in making the patients available in K.E.M. Hospital for my research.

I am indebted to Dr. Peter Honey and Dr. Broadbent for their interest in my research and their constructive suggestions which led to many improvements in my research.

I could not have completed research without access to the splendid resources of great libraries: Jayakar Library, University of Poona, Delhi University Library, British Library, and B.J. Medical College Library. Thanks are accorded to the staff of all the libraries who were of immense and unstinted help to me.

I am highly grateful to Dr. S.D. Gore and Mrs. Gore for their valuable suggestions at every phase of statistical treatment of my research.

My sincere thanks are due to Mr. G. Balasubramanian, VP Chest Institute, University of Delhi, Delhi for carefully typing my thesis.

I owe my whole hearted thanks to my brother Dr. B. Behram (Ph.D. in International Law), from whom I have received intellectual stimulation and immense interest for completing this research.

Last but not the least, I am immensely grateful to my father and mother for their encouragement and enthusiastic support given to me during my education. "Thank you" are small words indeed for such whole hearted and extensive support.

PUNE
December, 1987

MARYAM BEHDAHRVANDI, J.