ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I express my profound gratitude to GOD, the almighty for the successful completion of this research work.

First of all I would like to give my sincere thanks to my honorific guide, Prof. Dr. A. JEBANESAN, Department of Zoology, Annamalai University. This work would not have been possible without his guidance, support and encouragement. Under his guidance I successfully overcame many difficulties and learned a lot. I can’t forget his hard times. Thereafter, he offered me so much advice, patiently supervising me and always guiding me in the right direction. I have learned a lot from him without his help I could not have finished my dissertation successfully.

I would like to express my thanks to Dr. K.KARUPPASAMY, Professor and Head, Department of Zoology, Annamalai University for providing facilities, encouragement and support during this investigation.

Special and heartfelt thanks are also given to Prof Dr. N.INDRA, former Professor and Head, Department of Zoology, Annamalai University for her valuable advice and encouragement throughout the study period.

I would like to convey my heartfelt thanks to Dr. D. REETHA, Professor in Micro Biology, Faculty of Agriculture, Annamalai University, for the timely help; she transferred to me her research links and suggested to me the necessary reading for pursuing Ph.D research, also helps to recording the Microorganism identification.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. A.R.Rajavel, Scientist, Vector Control Research Centre, Pudhucherry, for giving the permission to utilize the laboratory. Also extend sincere thanks to Dr. R. Natarajan, for giving support to conduct to Mosquito species identification.
