Acknowledgement

In completing this thesis, I had the good fortune of enjoying the support of many scholars, well wishers and friends. These people stand out as having made indelible imprints on my thoughts and their help throughout writing of this thesis was indispensible. I feel it is my duty to express my gratitude to them.

I owe my deepest intellectual debt to Dr. Rachel Bari, Professor Department of P.G. studies and Research in English, Kuvempu University. Shimoga. Karnataka, for having guided me in this work and for being a source of inspiration by providing scholarly suggestions and guidance throughout my research work. I am grateful to her for encouraging me to take up a field study to give practical touch to the theories I have dealt in this thesis.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Rajendra Chenni, Professor Department of P.G. studies and Research in English for his support and guidance and Dr. Namratha, Dr. Nagya Naik, Dr. Ramprasad and Mr. Vinay for supporting and helping me at different levels.

I remember with gratitude Sri. V Devendra, Secretary and Academic Director, Jnanadeepa Vidya Samsthe, Mr. Shrikant M Hegde Principal, Jnanadeepa Senior Secondary School, Shimoga and all my colleagues and students of Jnanadeepa School for encouraging and motivating me in completing my research work.

I gratefully remember Dr. Ibrahim Kalilulla , Mr. A V Joseph, Mr. Sundar, (Srigannadam Puthakamane ), Mr. Bhadrish B T, (Chaithanya Rural Development
I affectionately remember the support and encouragement of my wife Theresakutty and my loving children Nikhil and Nithik in the completion of this work.

I am grateful to Ms. Sunita Rao of Vanastree and her team for providing me an opportunity to have a firsthand experience in ecosocial practices in Malnad region. It was an enriching experience for me to interact with the volunteers and to know about the valuable traditional methods of seed conservation and the social changes taking place in this region. I feel Vanastree is practically implementing the ecosocial activism advocated by Wangari Maathai Vandana Shiva and Arundhati Roy in its miniature form. I am thankful to her for allowing me to make use of the photographs and material from the website.

I am grateful to the teaching and non teaching staff of Department of P G studies and Research in English and the Library staff of Kuvempu University for their help in completing this work.

Regy Joseph