ACKNOWLEDGMENT

To write an acknowledgment for my Ph.D. thesis is a great moment in my life. It has not only enriched my career but has been able to restore my confidence. But the hectic work of completing this research on “USA PATRIOT ACT: A STUDY OF BALANCING NATIONAL SECURITY AND CIVIL LIBERTIES” would not have been possible without the teachings, trainings and guidance of Prof. Christopher S. Raj who has not only warmly accepted to be my Supervisor and Guide but corrected my many mistakes through this process and has been a pillar of inspiration, encouragement and cooperation. He has been helpful throughout my research for which I shall be greatly obliged to him. Special thanks are due to the Librarians and the Library Staff of the JNU Library, New Delhi and the American Resources Center, New Delhi and for helping me in getting various materials and data relating to my research work. In the absence of their timely help and cooperation, this attempt would not have been materialized. I searched and got a number of books, periodicals and articles from the American Resource Center Library, New Delhi on topics relating to my research and from the JNU Library I got books, periodicals and articles which were very helpful for my works. The User-ID given by the Cyber Library of JNU has been so helpful in browsing and reaching out to many past works on my topic, the issue and materials. The last but not the least is the cooperation that I got from the Printing and the Formatting persons were laudable. They deserve special thanks.

Place: New Delhi
Date: 28 July, 2010

(Chandrabhanu Bharas)