Acknowledgement

I am deeply indebted to Dr. P. Sudarsanan Pillai, Prof. and Head of the Department of Commerce, Cochin University of Science and Technology, who made this study possible. He is the philosopher and guide under whose watchful, critical, creative and diligent eyes, this work took its shape.Sustaining, correcting and lauding, he was there all along with that rare insight of his that can transform in a trice what is a vague shapeless, unorganized thought formation into the solidity and clarity of a view, idea and a concept.

I am thankful to Dr. K N. Panicker, Senior Deputy Director, VCRC & Founder Patron, FILCO, for all the help and encouragement he has provided. In fact it was his moral support that made me take up the study and helped me persist.

I thank Dr. K. C. Sankara Narayanan, Prof. and Head of the Department of Applied Economics, I have gained much from his good offices.

My profound sense of gratitude and admiration are due to Sbr. P.K. Thyagarajan, convener, FILCO movement. This great unassuming soft spoken gentleman, who pack his busy daily schedule with selfless quality social service was the chief spirit behind the formation and functioning of FILCO. His imagination and social commitment, faith and willingness in relentless work for the common good has contributed immensely to both the success of the VCRC programmes and of the present study. I am grateful to all FILCO officials and executives for their valuable encouragement and co-operation.

The lion’s share of the secondary data used in the study belongs to VCRC. I am deeply indebted to Dr. P. K. Das, the Director and the VCRC for this.

I thank Dr. John Kattakayam, Department of Sociology, University of Kerala for his valuable ideas and encouragements.
I thank Dr. T. Mariappan, Assistant Director, VCRC for his encouragements and ideas.

I also thank my colleagues Mr. A. Sureshkumar, Mrs. K.P. Pushpalatha, Mr. Ajithbala and the office staff of The Department of Applied Economics, especially to Mr. G.K. Unnikrishnan who had been of great help. I thank the librarians of the Department of Applied Economics, School of Management Studies and the central library of the university for their help.

I thank all the scientists and staff members of the field stations at Shertallai and Kochi for their help and encouragement.

I register my sincere gratitude to Sree Bhradra Vignana Kendra, Aravakkadu, Integrated Data, Thiruvananthapuram & Columbia Computers, S.L. Puram, for their help and assistance in processing the data.

Ambili Kumar