I owe my sincerest thanks to my research supervisor, Dr. G.L.Badam, who gave invaluable suggestions and guidance until the completion of this work. I have been academically benefited immensely under his guidance. I acknowledge his efforts which enabled me to usefully apply my earth sciences background to Quaternary Geology and Prehistoric Archaeology. His critical assessment of my research work helped to widen my awareness of the problems involved in this dissertation.

I owe a great debt of gratitude to several geologists and archaeologists in various institutions who enhanced my knowledge through a series of discussions. They are: Prof. S.N.Rajaguru (Deccan College, Pune), Dr. B.L.Dhar (Jammu University, Jammu), Dr. A.C.Nanda (Wadia Institute of Himalayan Geology, Dehra Dun), Dr. S.K.Tandon (Delhi University, Delhi), Dr. I.B.Singh (Lucknow University, Lucknow) and Prof. G.C.Mohapatra (Panjab University, Chandigarh).

The immense help received at the Indian Museum, Calcutta, during my study of fossil elephants there, is gratefully acknowledged. In particular, Mr. P.K.Basu and Mr. S.K.Biswas (Senior Geologists, Palaeontology Division) and Mr. Bali Ram (Keeper) deserve my thanks. Prof. K.C.Jain (Head, Department of Ancient Indian History, Culture & Archaeology, Vikram University, Ujjain) gave permission to study the fossil elephants displayed in the Archaeological Museum at Ujjain.

I wish to thank Prof. S.B.Deo (Former Director, Deccan College, Pune) for awarding a U.G.C. fellowship in my favour. My thanks are due to Prof. M.K.Dhavalikar (Director, Deccan College, Pune) for his manifold help during the present research project.

I am also grateful to Prof. V.J.Misra (Joint Director, Deccan College, Pune), Prof. M.L.K.Murty (Telugu University, Srisailam), Dr. K.Paddayya and Dr. P.K.Thomas (Deccan College, Pune) for their constant encouragement received during the present research work.

I thank my friends who have constantly extended their cooperation and encouragement in several ways till the completion of this dissertation. They are: Mr. Salahuddin (Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh), Dr. S.C.Nanda (Ispat College, Rourkela), Drs.[Mrs.] Hema Raghavan (Presidency College, Madras), Drs. Ravi Mohanty, Ravi Korisettar, Arun Kumar (Deccan College, Pune) and Mr. S.B.Ota (Archaeological Survey of India, Nagpur).

The untiring help extended to me by the Library Staff of the Deccan College Library is gratefully acknowledged. I thank Mr. Y.S.Rasar and Mr. R.B.Warke for neat drawing of the geological sections and fossils, and Mr. G.H.Kharag for his neat and expeditious typing.
Finally, I owe my sincere debt of gratitude to my father, late mother and brother for their constant encouragement, support and interest during the course of this work.
