Acknowledgement

First of all I thank lord (BRAHMA) for giving the life and external life, I offer this humble presentation at the lotus feet of lord BRAHMA to all the great souls. Teacher and learned enlightened individual who have endeavoring to pass on the treasure to lesser mortal like me. I offer my solution and prostration.

I wish to express my heart full gratitude and honors to my adviser Dr. (Mrs.) Meenakshi Singh Lecturer and Head, Institute of Home Science Bundelkhand University of Jhansi for her unfailing and excellent guidance, steady but painstaking hard work, infinite cooperation. Throughout the tension of present investigation without which it would have not been possible for me to complete this research program. I wish to thank him for the many courtesies extended at the department while the preparation of this work in progress. She is a supervisor not only in a formal sense but intrinsically a devoted personality in full capacity also. I have no words to depict her innumerable qualities of head and heart.

I find myself perpetually indebted to our Vice Cancellor Prof. V.K. Mittal for providing all type of facilities.

I deeply acknowledge the ever ready help constant encouragement support and affection extended by my parents Smt. Radha Shukla and Sri. R.S. Shakya thought the course of my study. I do not find any appropriate words to express kind enough in providing me all the facilities even behind their reach for carrying out the present study properly and smoothly.
I wish to express my appreciation to the adolescent respondents for extending valuable help and willing co-operation, in providing me the required information without which the study would not have been possible.

My thanks is also to my family members, my elder brother Mr. Neelesh Shakya & my sister in law Mrs. Madhu Shakya and my elder sister Mrs. Gargi Verma & my brother in law Er. Rakesh Verma and Mrs. Sunita Singh & Mr. Omveer Singh and my sisters Vineeta, Neha, Er. Shweta for their timely and proper guidance.

I am also thankful to the principal Dr. Shobharan Singh Gaur and all staff of of B.N.V. P.G. College, Rath Hamirpur for providing all the necessary facilities in the college during my Ph.D work.

Shikha Shakya