ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is indeed a pleasant experience to acknowledge the valuable guidance and other effective services from many a man, without which this research work would not have been successfully completed.

The investigator chose the subject at the instance of Dr. Mohan Mathew, M.Ed., Ph.D., Dip. in E.V.G., Lecturer, Department of Education, University of Kerala, who is the supervisor of this research work. When the investigator was on the track after having prepared the preliminary bibliography, he really came to doubt the prudence of his choice of the subject. Prior to the investigator's decision to work on this subject of superstition, he did not, he confesses, have bothered much about the superstitious beliefs of the society to which he belongs to.

When the investigator came across the interesting features of High School Pupils' belief systems, the initial problem appeared to be an interesting but adventurous project.

In proceeding with this research the investigator received friendly assistance and encouragement from many.

The investigator is specially indebted to his inspirer and mentor, Dr. Mohan Mathew. It was his sense of selfless devotion and untiring enthusiasm and flavour for research which transcended the restrictions of clock and desk that constantly activated and motivated the investigator to proceed with the work, and enabled him to get his effective and useful guidance at every successive stage of the work, from the overall design through every technical aspect of the study and culminating in the final shape which the work has now taken.
The investigator gracefully acknowledges his deep appreciation and expresses his sincere and heartfelt thanks for the guidance and inspiration he received from Mrs. Elizaba Zachariah, M.A.,M.Ed., an educational expert and Head of the Department of Education at the time of registration, the then Vice-Chancellor, Dr. A. Ayyappan an eminent Social Scientist, Dr. P. Madhavan Nair, M.Sc.,M.Ed., Lecturer, S.N. Training College, Nedunganda, an expert in educational statistics, who bore the investigator a hand at every stage and in more ways than one.

Sincere gratitude is due to Dr. A. Sukumaran Nair, M.A.,M.Sc.,M.Ed.,Ph.D., Lecturer in Statistics in the University Department of Education for his valuable advice and encouragement.

The investigator is failing in his duty if he does not offer his deep gratitude and sincere thanks to Dr. N. Vedamani Manuel, M.A.,M.Ed.,Ph.D., the present Professor and Head of the Department of Education, University of Kerala, a true scholar and a research expert who wanted the investigator to expedite the work in the most desirable manner possible.

Sri. Ramachandran Potti, B.Sc., who assisted the investigator in calculation work also deserves thanks.

Last but not least the investigator places on record his indebtedness to Prof. K. Sathyavarman, M.A.,M.Ed., Principal of the College with whom the investigator is working, and to his colleagues for all the valuable and timely assistance he received from them at every now and then.

Trivandrum,

K.G. THIMOTHEOSE.
