ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I take this opportunity to express my deeply felt gratitude towards my Research Guide Dr. Deepak. S. Gaikwad, Professor & Head, Dept of History, University of Pune, without whose encouragement, support and guidance, this work would not have been completed. My association with Prof. Gaikwad is more than a decade and a half old. He had been quite warm and helpful to me when I had come to Pune (from J.N.U., New Delhi, where I was registered as an M. Phil student) to collect reference materials for in connection with my M. Phil dissertation in 1993. While pursuing my Ph. D, his support came at a time when I needed a proper direction to compile my thesis. It was a critically sad moment as Prof. (Ms.) Sushma Varma (University of Pune), under whose guidance I had started my research work, passed away after a brief illness. Under such a situation, Prof. Gaikwad readily consented to supervise my work and gave me a new hope. I have no words to acknowledge his untiring support, which saw me through the worst phase during the course of this work.

I had been regularly visiting to the Department of History, University of Pune, for consulting the rich collection of books in available with their Departmental Library. During this process, I got familiar with most of the faculty members. I would like to put on record that all of them viz. Prof. (Ms.) Rekha Ranade, Dr. (Mrs.) Sumitra Kulkarni, Dr. (Mrs.) Radhika Seshan, Dr. S. M. Dixit, Dr. Umesh Kadam and Mr. B. H. Dudhbhate, had been nice and cooperative. Dr. Seshan and Dr. Umesh, in particular, have been more than generous to have allowed me to borrow books from their personal collections too.

I am indebted to the National Defence Academy (N.D.A.) Khadakwasla, Pune, for granting me the permission to engage myself in this research work. Without any hesitations I can say that I feel myself lucky to be with such wonderful colleagues of the department of History, N.D.A, where I have been working as a Lecturer for the last eight years. They have indeed been thoroughly supporting me throughout the period of research work, and my gratitude towards them cannot be expressed in words for them. I would fail in my duty if I do not make a special mention of Dr. L. C. Nand and Prof. P. C. Acharya, for their encouragements as the Head of the History Dept. Amongst others, in particular, Dr. Rajeev Bargoti, Mr. Govind Sarage, Mrs. Sulochana Shekhar and Mr. Kulkarni have frequently shared with me my moments of anxiety. If Dr. Bargoti, lecturer (History) at N.D.A., was ever-available for his special tips and thoughtful feedbacks (he took pains to get me many books and Xeroxes of important documents too!), Mr. Sarage (Lecturer, Computer Science, N.D.A.) turned out to be the so called ‘God-sent man’ for me. I might have been struggling to retrieve the data of my thesis from my Computer (it had crashed just a week before submission of the thesis!!), had he not always stepped in as a computer expert and kept my PC in a ‘QC, OK’ condition. As far as Dr. Sulochana Shekhar (now with the Dept. of Geography, University of Pune) is concerned, I must admit that the maps supplementing my thesis are all because of her efforts. Mr. Kulkarni, on the other hand, helped me in interpreting the Marathi documents and also took efforts to make me more familiar with this language. For them, the acknowledgement of ‘Thank You’ seems quite inadequate.

I would like to put on record a special word of thanks to the librarians and staff members of all those libraries which I have visited during the course of my research work. In particular, Mrs. Renuka Pawase, Mr. Sanjay Taru, Mr. Krishna Valvi and Mr. Ramdas Nawale, have been the most cooperative and supportive amongst the Jayakar Library staff. At the same time, the staff of the library of the N.D.A. deserves appreciation for their help in locating and (at times) procuring books required by me.

Finally - my family. They have always been my unfailing source of moral support. My wife Hem Kusum (a lecturer of Chinese language and literature) and my 6 years inquisitive son Arihant (he has gone through a considerable part of my thesis sitting in my lap) have endured this long process with me – never complaining, and always offering support and unconditional love. My, brothers, sister and in-laws have all been waiting eagerly for me to finally submit my thesis. In the end, I would like to dedicate this thesis to my parents who were always confident that I would complete my work. I am happy; I have not let them down.
