ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am grateful to the management of National Institute of Bank Management, Pune for allowing me to use all the infra-structural facilities of the Institute facilitating the conduct of the study. My special thanks are due to Mr. G.H. Deolalkar, previously the Managing Director, SBI Factors and Commercial Services Pvt. Ltd. and currently Director, National Institute of Bank Management for enriching my knowledge on the subject.

During the course of the study, I have had interaction with a number of exporters, bank executives and experts in the area of factoring. I believe that the study would not have materialised without their frank views and suggestions. My thanks are due to all of them. However, I will fail in my duty if I do not mention the specific contributions made by Mr. T. Narayanswamy, Deputy General Manager, SBI Factors and Commercial Services Pvt. Ltd., and Dr. S.V. Kuvalekar, my colleague at National Institute of Bank Management. I am indeed grateful to both of them.

I consider it my privilege and fortune to work under the able guidance of Dr. V.S. Kaveri, Professor, National Institute of Bank Management. He was always of constant source of inspiration to me.

I express my sincere thanks to Ms. Vidya S. Nigudkar, Ms. Shainaz Baig and Ms. Anna Mills for the excellent secretarial services provided throughout the study.

This study would never have been possible without the continuous encouragement through endurance of the strenuous job from my wife Samatha and my loving daughters,
Amita and Swagata. My special thanks to all of them. I may add, however, that but for characteristic support, and fathomless inspiration of my sweet wife Samatha, this work would never have seen the light of the day. Rightfully this dissertation is dedicated to her.
