ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Any significant activity to be completed requires help, guidance, suggestions and support from the people around. Completing the research work for Ph. D. is not an exception to this universal rule.

I consider it to be my duty to recognize and acknowledge the support that I got from all the quarters, without which, this task would not have been completed.

First of all, let me put on record, my sincere most thanks to Dr. Sharad L. Joshi, who is my Friend, Philosopher, Guide and Guru combined in one. His positive approach and receptivity boosted my enthusiasm and confidence.

I thank Dr. Ashok Joshi, the Director of INDSEARCH, whose constant encouragement, advice and suggestions were really valuable.

Researcher is also thankful to Dr. Gunjal and Dr. N. M. Vechalekar at INDSEARCH for their constant guidance and valuable help.

I am always indebted to numerous respondents in Industry from whom I gathered Primary Data. I would, therefore, like to put on record my sincere thanks for the immense help, up- to- date information and knowledge that I could obtain through number of visits, discussions and correspondence with the managements of industrial units. Without their help and co-operation this thesis would not have been possible.

I would also like to thank the staff of VIM Library, The Gokhale Institute Library as well as libraries attached to the management institutes viz.- MCCIA, MITSOM, Dr. D. Y. Patil Institute of Management & Research, IMED of Bharati Vidyapeeth, Deemed University, who permitted me to use their library facilities in the course of my desk research.

I am always indebted to the encouragement by Dr. Manohar Ingale, who was the first, to inspire me for this research work and I sincerely thank him for the same.

I also met various experts and business leaders for interaction and to understand their points of view on the findings of this research work. I am indeed thankful to all of them.

I thank my colleagues, who reminded me of my work and who provided enormous co-operation and positive environment all through.

I must mention, with greatest respect, the blessings of my Guru, Shri Brahmchaitanya Maharaj Gondavlekar, realized through emotional, and spiritual elevations and inspirations, which, I suppose, has helped me to reach to this stage and will continue to do so in future also.

I thank Vijay Metkar who took pains of typing and formatting the thesis contents. Thanks are also due to Shri. Vishal Soni, for his immense help in computing the statistical solutions.

Last but not the least, I thank my wife, Shubhangi, and the family members for creating supportive environment at home.
