ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The investigator desires to place on record his profound indebtedness to all those who have contributed directly or indirectly to make this venture a success. It is difficult, if not impossible, to mention all those who helped in the conduct of the study. He feels that he will be failing in his duty if he does not mention some of the individuals but for whose help and co-operation the present work would not have been completed.

At the very outset, the investigator's fullest measure of gratitude is to his Supervising Teacher Dr. M. S. Gomathy Ammal, Department of Education, University of Kerala under whose incessant guidance this study was carried out. The prolonged discussions and the inspiring dialogues that the investigator has had with her, paved the way for an in-depth examination of the problem.

The investigator is deeply indebted to Dr. N. Vedamony Manuel, former Professor of Education, University of Kerala. The dialogues with Dr. Manuel had helped him to a great extent in formulating the approaches to the present analysis. In fact it was he who had initiated the investigator into this area of research.

The investigator is also deeply indebted to Dr. Pushpita John, Professor and Head of the Department of Education for rendering the much-needed encouragement.

The investigator places on record his gratitude to Mrs. Molly M. Mathew, Librarian in the Department who has been very helpful in locating the literature needed for the study.
The investigator is thankful to all the primary school teachers and headmasters, teacher educators, Assistant Educational Officers and experts in the field of language and teaching who sincerely and earnestly co-operated with him for the successful completion of the study.

The investigator feels that he will be failing in his duty if he does not remember some of his former teacher-trainees for the help rendered by them during the course of the research work.
