ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my pleasant duty to express how much I owe to Prof. V.M. Sirsikar former Head of the Department of Politics and Public Administration, University of Poona. His deep insight into contemporary political sociology and thought in India and abroad, his scholarly dispassionate treatment of the subject and above all his concern for my study provided guidance and continuous encouragement to me. I owe much more to him than I can easily express.

I place on record my grateful thanks to the University Grants Commission for awarding me Teacher Fellowship as also to Principal P.L. Gadgil, Principal, Fergusson College for his valuable co-operation. I express my thanks to the members of the Department of Politics and Public Administration where I did my work.

Prof. P.N. Limaye and Dr. R.M. Vora must be thanked for their valuable advice and suggestions at various stages of this study. The library staff of the Jayakar Library was very co-operative. My thanks are also due to Prof. D.B. Sardesai for his assistance in processing statistical data. I am thankful to Prof. T.N. Raina who went through the entire manuscript with incisiveness and utmost care, his suggestions were very useful in presentation of the thesis.

I thank all the girl-students who were interviewed for this thesis. Without their willing and spontaneous co-operation, data collection would have been difficult.

My husband Shrikant, members of my family, friends and so many others and still others have a definite place in these grateful acknowledgements. I believe that this very emotional heritage should be strictly a personal preserve and should remain so. My gratitude to them needs no publicity.

- Mrs. Lalita S. Honap.
