Acknowledgements

Abbreviations

Preface

I. Literature ascribed to Gautama. 1-77

II. Unpublished literature ascribed to Gautama.

A
Gautama-Āhnika-jūtra (GĀJ)

1. Material used for this edition. 78-88

2. Peculiarities of the text and of the printed texts.

3. About the presentation of the critical text of the GĀJ.

4. Introduction 89-128

I) The nature of the work.

II) Textual differences between Bo and Ay (together with the printed texts).

III) Relation of the GGS (1.1) with the GĀJ.

IV) The place of the GĀJ in the Āhnika-literature.

V) About the authorship of the work.

VI) Whether the GĀJ can be treated as the GGS?

5. Text with critical-apparatus. 129-162
Gautama-Grhya-Parisiṣṭa (GGP)

1. Material used for this edition.
2. peculiarities of the text used for this edition.
3. about the presentation of the critical text of the GGP.

4. Introduction

I. The āpatisaṭa and ānanga division.

II. Some particular rites in the GGP.

a) About the rites which occur twice.
b) The rites with two or three types of procedures for them.
c) The rites which appear to be repetitions.
d) The repeated rites.
e) Differences in respect of the names of rites.
f) About the medium of presentation of the GGP.

III. Salient Features of the GGP.

a) The names of the Ācāryas - i) Differences in respect of their names. ii) Sāmavedic Ācāryas. iii) The Ācāryas of the other Vedas.
b) The mutual relations of the schools of the SV.
c) i) Statistical evidence about Gautama's authority. ii) About the rites attributed to Gautama. iii) Gautama's work as the work for the Sāmavedins.
d) employment of Sāmanas in the GGP.
IV. References to the views of other teachers.

V. Textual peculiarities of the Mss and their relation to one another.

VI. Close relation of the GP.s of the SV with those of the black YV.

VII. About the date of these Mss.

VIII. The nature of the Parisiśṭasas and the place of the GGP in the available GP.s.

5. Text with critical apparatus - 263-437

<
Gautami-Paddhati (GPd)

1. Material used for this edition. 438-440

2. Orthographical peculiarities of the ss.

3. About the presentation of the critical text of the GPd.

4. Introduction 441-448

I. The nature of a Paddhati-Text.

II. About the Gautami-Paddhati.

5. Text with critical apparatus. 449-499

III. Conclusion 500-508

Bibliography 509-521